SENATE PASSES OFFICES BILL AS WRANGLE ENDS

Plan for Appeals Court to Ease Employes' Hardships Fails.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The independent offices bill, carrying sweeping provisions affecting Federal personnel policies, rotative Government furloughs, optional 30-year retirement, and an apportionment-efficiency standard for Government dismissals, was passed by the Senate last night without a record vote.

Passage followed a three-day wrangle over administrative cuts in veterans' disability pensions, and failure of a last-minute effort by Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, to have the Sirovich plan for a Civil Service Court of Appeals attached to the offices measure.

Sirovich Plan Blocked.

Senator James F. Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, blocked the Sirovich plan by a point of order. Immediately afterward Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York, announced his proposal to ease employe hardships will be offered next week as a rider on another measure.

Passage of the bill sends to conference with the House the so-called "apportionment clause," changed by the Senate to give efficiency equal weight with State quotas in making dismissals. An effort will be made in conference either to eliminate the clause altogether or to further ease its hardships.

Meanwhile, Chairman Lamar Jeffers of the House Civil Service Committee announced his group will meet Monday morning to map its investigation of the extent the Civil Service Commission has ignored State quotas in making appointments to the Federal service. The House authorized the investigation Thursday.

Longer Leave Sought.

Just before Senate passage of the independent offices bill early last night, Senator Henry F. Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, made a futile effort to have Washington police and firemen exempted from the 15-day annual leave requirement of the old economy act. Lauding both services

3 of 8 Chaingang Fugitives Captured

Washington, Ga., June 2 (U.P.).—Three of eight long-term Wilkes County chain gang convicts who escaped after overpowering a guard near here late today were captured near Watkinsville tonight by a posse headed by Sheriff O. M. Walton.

The sheriff reported he believed the other five fugitives were surrounded in a patch of woods. They were armed with two pistols taken from Guard Sam Jones.

Raiford, Fla., June 2 (A.P.).—Harry Sitamore, who numbered Grace Moore, opera star, and many Florida winter visitors among his robbery victims, escaped from the State Prison Farm here today with two other convicts. Authorities said the men drove off in a prison truck, which was found abandoned several miles away.

Agello Sets Plane Mark Of 440 Miles Per Hour

Rome, June 2 (A.P.).—Warrant Officer Francesco Agello was reported today in aviation circles to have unofficially broken his own world record by averaging a speed of 440 miles an hour in a practice flight over Lake Garda.

Agello set a mark of 426½ miles an hour in his Red Bullet plane on April 10. This was 20 miles an hour faster than the former record set by the British lieutenant, O. H. Stainforth, in 1931.

Gwynn's Engagement To Eleanor Ryan Ends

Betrothal to Heiress of Thomas Fortune Ryan Broken in Paris.

Harris & Ewing.
MISS ELEANOR RYAN.

A United Press Paris dispatch last night said Henry Beall Gwynn, 25, son of Dr. William C. Gwynn, 1514 Thirtieth street northwest, had announced in Paris the breaking of his engagement to Eleanor Ryan, 22, an heiress granddaughter of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, American financier. Their engagement was announced last December.

Young Gwynn left Washington last week for Paris, it was learned, and the marriage was to have been held there this month. His parents were surprised to learn of the sudden termination of the betrothal. The dispatch from Paris stated Gwynn was returning to the United States today on the S. S. Aquitania.

Both Gwynn and Miss Ryan are well known in Washington.

Gwynn is a student at the Georgetown University College of Medicine and a member of this year's graduating class. Miss Ryan lived with her grandmother, Mrs. Alexander P. Morse, at Valley View Farm, Ridge road, after the death of her parents,

REVOLT ON ECONOMY CHECKED IN SENATE

(Associated Press.)

By the margin of a Vice Presidential vote, administration leaders checked a revolt in the Senate yesterday against the economy act, but not until an amendment had been inserted in the independent offices appropriation bill adding $170,000,000 to ease the contemplated reductions in veterans' allowances.

By the single vote cast by Vice President Garner to break a tie, a compromise amendment by Senator Connally (Democrat), Texas, was adopted to limit to 25 per cent reductions in World War service-connected disability compensations and pensions of veterans of the Spanish-American War. The vote was 43 to 42.

Senator Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, then had inserted a $170,000,000 appropriation to take care of the heavier expenditures and the independent offices bill was passed without a record vote.

As sent to conference with the House, it carried $715,740,936 or $172,167,000 over the House figures. Connally estimated it still would save $250,000,000 compared with current veterans' costs, although the administration had planned to lop off about $420,000,000.

Byrnes estimated the Connally amendment would require another $65,000,000 for Spanish-American War veterans and $105,000,000 more for

Argentina-Bolivia Break Seen Near

Buenos Aires, June 2 (A.P.).—A diplomatic rupture between Argentina and Bolivia was viewed as a possibility in authoritative quarters today as the result of the vigorous phrasing of a note of protest sent yesterday from Buenos Aires to La Paz.

The note lodged a sharp complaint against damage suffered by Argentine citizens in the bombardment by Bolivian military airplanes of Puerto Casado, April 27.

A diplomatic break, it was said here, can be averted only by Bolivian acceptance of the protest and an apology or withdrawal of the complaint by Argentina. There was no sign that either country would yield from its position.

Schooner Is Sunk By Liner; 12 Saved

Southampton, Eng., June 2 (U.P.).—The liner New York halted today en route to the United States to land passengers from the wrecked Guildford Castle, and her officers revealed that she had collided with the Estonian motor schooner Poljarst-Jernen in a dense fog off the coast of Holland.

The collision occurred about midnight and the schooner, cut in twain, sank immediately.

The boatswain was drowned, but the captain, 10 men and a female cook were rescued by the New York, which was undamaged.

Reserve Board Naming Forecast for Monday

President Roosevelt hopes to fill the vacancies in the Federal Reserve Board by Monday, it was said yesterday at the White House.

Appointments to fill empty places on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation also will be made next week, it was indicated.

GASOLINE PRICES GO UP OUTSIDE OF D. C.

Higher Taxes of Virginia and Maryland Put Wholly on Retail Stations.

Independent gasoline dealers of the Maryland and Virginia counties bordering Washington and the gasoline tax receipts of the two States will receive a serious crimp to the profit of Washington retailers as a result of action taken by oil companies yesterday in connection with an increase in gasoline prices.

This is because the oil companies declared that no longer would they absorb a loss on gasoline sold in the border territory which they had been taking, so suburban dealers with a higher State tax could meet District competition.

An official of one of the oil companies indicated that the step was taken for the reason that the oil companies—against high gasoline taxes—should not, in effect, continue to pay part of the State taxes in order that borderline dealers meet District prices.

However, the discontinuance of the assumption of a portion of the difference may be disastrous to the retailers in the affected region. Arlington County dealers have declared they must meet Washington prices or go out of business. Efforts were begun to organize the dormant suburban Gasoline Dealer Association, which met a similar situation several months ago, to determine on a course of action.

The tax in the District is 2 cents, in Virginia, 5 cents, and in Maryland, 4 cents, all exclusive of the 1 cent Federal tax. Until this time, the distributors have been absorbing 2 cents of the difference in Virginia and the independent dealers 1 cent. In Maryland the 2-cent difference was halved by the oil companies and the retailers.

The price increase is 2.3 cents per gallon, but this is tempered by a 2-cent discount per gallon for cash. The result is that instead of paying 66 cents for five gallons of gasoline, the District cash customer will pay 68 cents. The cash discount has been made to discourage the credit business, the oil companies declaring that bookkeeping costs them 2 cents per gallon on credit accounts.

U. S. Sends Labor Envoys to Geneva

Geneva, June 2 (A.P.).—It was announced today that the Washington Government for the first time since 1919 will send a delegation to the international labor conference, which opens here next Tuesday. The agenda, of this meeting includes proposals for a 40-hour working week; unemployment insurance, and assistance to the unemployed.

An official communique indicated that Miss Mary Anderson, of the Department of Labor, would head the American delegation, which will assume the role of observers with the privilege of participating in discussions.

Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Cuba and Uruguay will send complete delegations and other Latin-American States also will be represented.

Colorado Girl Drowned After Saving Her Sister

Rocky Ford, Colo., June 2 (A.P.).—Seventeen-year-old Roberta Wilker drowned late today after rescuing a younger sister from a deep hole in a creek where they were swimming. The younger girl fell into the deep water and Roberta managed to push her to the bank. She was so exhausted, however, that she sank back into the creek.

Nearby field laborers recovered the body.

DAVIS PROTESTS HEATEDLY QUIZ OF T. S. LAMONT

Wrangles With Senate's Counsel Over Type of Question.

(Associated Press.)

A sharp protest from John W. Davis to a question that drove unexpectedly toward the income taxes of a J. P. Morgan & Co. partner yesterday gave an exciting finish to the week's Senate investigation of the firm's business.

The question was put by Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, to Thomas S. Lamont after the committee had heard from George Whitney, another member of the firm, the story of the $250,000,000 bankers' group that went into the market in 1929 in an effort to stem the downward rush of stock prices.

Whitney denied emphatically to Senator Reynolds (Democrat), North Carolina, that British royalty, including King George, French politicians or Mussolini were on the selected client lists of his international banking house.

Davis and Pecora Argue.

After reading to Lamont a list of several thousand shares immediately after the youthful partner took the stand, Pecora suddenly asked:

"Did you sell this stock on December 30, 1930?"

Before Lamont could reply, Davis, the firm's counsel and one-time Democratic Presidential candidate, was on his feet calling the question "not fair."

Davis and Pecora argued the point in another one of the several altercations they have had since the inquiry began. Finally Chairman Fletcher interceded and ruled the question pertinent.

Pecora repeated his question.

"I have no recollection of that," Lamont said.

He was told to inform himself over the week-end, the committee recessed until Monday and J. P. Morgan, head of the banking house, was excused from further attendance.

Income Tax Spectre.

Fletcher later said Pecora's question was leading up to the subject of income tax returns. All the partners together paid only $48,000 for 1930 and nothing for 1931 and 1932.

Early Monday, before the investigation resumes, Davis will have an opportunity to present his side of Pecora's question to committee members in closed session.

Though Morgan himself was excused, he told newspapermen he probably would be back.

"I think I'd like to see the end of

Woman's Rescuer Cited for Heroism

Ocean City, Md., June 2 (A.P.).—For swimming more than 250 yards with his clothes on in rough surf to rescue a Washington woman, Lemuel H. Timmons, 18, of Ocean City, has been recommended for heroism to the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

On September 17, 1931, Miss Irene Friel, of 1312 Connecticut avenue, Washington, was swept out to sea by a strong surrent. Exhausted, she called for aid.

Timmons, removing only his shoes, battled waves five feet high to reach the woman. He grasped her as she was in a semiconscious condition, and brought her back to shore safely.

New Record

Set by Hawks in 13½-Hour Nonstop Flight to New York.

New York, June 2 (U.P.).—Lieut. Comdr. Frank Hawks rocketed across the continent from Los Angeles to New York today to shatter by more than four hours his own transcontinental nonstop speed record.

Flying with the aid of a "robot pilot"—a compact little device which enabled him to pilot with a minimum of effort—the famed speedster made the trip in 13 hours 27 minutes.

He had left Los Angeles at dawn—9:31 a. m. Eastern daylight time—and his stream-lined all-metal monoplane slid down in the glare of floodlights at Floyd Bennett Field here at 11:18 p. m. E. D. T.

The record of 17 hours 86 minutes which he smashed tonight was established by Hawks in 1929.

Hawks had announced before making this flight that his chief purpose was to test the robot pilot and not to set a record. However, those familiar with his record-setting habits were confident he would make the flight in less time than ever before.

Hawks flew approximately 2,440 miles on what he calls the "great cir-

U. S. DEBT GROWING $10,000,000 PER DAY

Treasury Figures Reveal Nation in "Red" Despite Wave of Economy.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Despite a reassuring wave of economy sentiment in Congress and out during the last year, Uncle Sam still is operating "in the red," with the national debt increasing at the rate of $10,000,000 a day, Sundays and holidays included.

Official Treasury figures made public yesterday showed a gross national debt of $21,853,385,981, as of June 1, an increase of $412,000,000 for the month of May.

Between March 1 and June 1 this year the gross national debt increased from $20,900,000,000 to $21,853,000,000, a net increase of $901,382,000 in 92 calendar days.

This increase in the national debt during March, April and May presents a figure almost $100,000,000 in excess of the total operating cost of the Federal Government for an entire year as recently as 1912. The total annual ordinary budget for all Federal functions a decade ago was approximately $800,000,000. Since the end of February the excess of Federal outgo over income has been at the rate of $900,000,000 for three months.

Although a large part of the new Government borrowings during the last three months have been dispensed through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, a large proportion of the funds thus handed out were in the category of direct emergency grants rather than loans. Because the Treasury now is operating

Cummings Probes U. S. Judge's Work

(Associated Press.)

Justice Department officials said yesterday that investigation of bankruptcy cases handled by Judge Albert Johnson in the middle Pennsylvania district was going forward.

Attorney General Cummings said he had received a number of complaints about the way Judge Johnson handled the cases, one from a "congressional source." Cummings, however, refused to reveal the source of any complaints.

Britain Likely to Pay Again; Reich Debts Holiday Seen

Schacht Statement Held Affecting External Obligations.'

Berlin, June 2 (A.P.).—President Hjalmar Schacht of the Reichsbank, addressing the final session of a five-day conference of Germany's foreign creditor bankers, made a statement today interpreted by every one present as meaning that Germany next week will declare a moratorium on all her external debts.

After reading a communique issued by all the delegates, he said:

"This puts the decision for further action straight up to the Reichsbank. Our decision, which is irrevocable, is that we will not permit further shrinkage of our gold and devisen (bills of foreign exchange)."

The communique was valuable, he said, because it recognized that the Reichsbank may be forced to take extraordinary measures.

That some sort of a moratorium—but not a general moratorium—is London Planning to Remit June 15 Regardless of French Course.

London, June 2 (U.P.).—The British government, regardless of action by France, probably will pay its June war debt payment to the United States, it was indicated strongly tonight.

The House of Commons adjourned until June 13 after a vague statement by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, with a growing feeling that the ministry of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald intended to make the June 15 payment of $75,950,000.

In financial quarters, opposition to the payment waned as it was emphasized the government could use profits accruing to the treasury through the adroit manipulation of the exchange equalization fund.

One report said that the fund had earned approximately 12,000,000 pounds (about $48,000,000) since its

EIGHT ARRESTED IN KANSAS CITY KIDNAPING CASE

'We've Got Whole Gang' That Abducted Girl, Police Assert.

Kansas City, June 2 (A.P.).—Officers seeking the kidnapers of Miss Mary McElroy, 25, who was ransomed for $30,000, struck with startling suddenness in two cities today, arresting eight persons, announcing a confession and moving swiftly toward prosecution.

"We've got the whole gang," said Eugene C. Reppert, director of police.

Baffling silence had enveloped the case since Miss McElroy, daughter of City Manager H. F. McElroy, was released last Sunday 29 hours after her abduction from the bathroom of her home.

Arrest Made in Texas.

Then today these developments came in dizzy succession:

Amarillo, Tex., officers announced they had arrested Walter H. McGee, 37, alleged former convict from the Oregon State Penitentiary; Wendell Johnson, whom they believe to be Clarence Stevens; Mrs. Hazel Johnson, L. R. Gilbert and his wife.

They said McGee admitted that $9,000 found in his possession was "kidnap money," but denied he took part in the abduction.

Kansas City police reported apprehending Clarence Click, a truck driver; Lucille Cates, said to be McGee's former wife, and Abe Starr, Leavenworth, Kans., junk dealer who was not believed to be implicated in the kidnaping but was held for questioning.

McGee Called Leader.

Announcement followed by police that Miss Cates had confessed cooking for the kidnapers and Miss McElroy "at the point of a gun" in a farm bungalow near Shawnee, Kans., and had named McGee as the ring leader.

The Federal grand jury was recalled to inquire into the kidnaping tomorrow and Federal charges were filed against the five arrested in Texas.

Thomas J. Higgins, chief of police detectives, said Miss Cates named McGee, his brother George, a Clarence Stevens and Click as among the men at the bungalow during the time Miss McElroy was held in chains in the basement while ransom negotiations went forward.

Describes Terrorism.

She denied any knowledge of plans for the kidnaping.

"The first thing I knew about it was when they brought her to the house that afternoon (last Saturday) and took her to the basement," Miss Cates was quoted as telling officers.

"When they brought her, they told me to get in the bedroom upstairs and not stick my head out of the window.

"I went down in the basement two or three times and each time I was chased back upstairs."

Asked if she cooked for the men, Miss Cates replied:

"Well, I guess you would cook, too, at the point of a gun."

Higgins said Miss McElroy was kept in a dingy little cell off the basement garage, originally constructed for a fruit cellar.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cates, of Merriam, Kans., mother of Miss Cates, told police McGee threatened her daughter with death if she revealed the kidnaping.

"If you ever squeal, I'll kill you," she quoted McGee as saying.

New Trouble Seen For Samuel Insull

(Associated Press.)

Possible new troubles for Samuel Insull, former head of a Middle Western utilities empire, were being brewed yesterday at the Justice Department, where officials sought means for obtaining his extradition from Greece.

Declining to be specific, an authoritative source said that additional indictments against Insull were being contemplated in the expectation that the government of Greece would honor them.

Insull was indicted last year for embezzlement in connection with the collapse of his vast public utilities holdings with losses of millions of dollars to investors. In Europe at that time, he fled to Greece, and there, after a spectacular hearing, the American Government was refused extradition.

Jobless Women Crowd To Enrollment in Camp

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—A line of unemployed young women applied to day to enter an experimental camp in Bear Mountain Park, arranged by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Secretary of Labor Perkins, and the State Relief Commission.

The camp is expected to be ready in a week. Funds will be provided by the national relief director at the rate of about $5 a week for each of the 250 women admitted.

7 Dead, 22 Hurt And 10 Missing In Oil Explosion

Great Flames Follow Disaster; Damage Is $350,000.

Long Beach, Calif., June 2 (A.P.).—Seven persons were burned to death, twenty-two were treated at hospitals for injuries and ten others were missing tonight following a terrific explosion at the Meader absorption plant of the Richfield Oil Co. in the Signal Hill field near here today.

The blast, which rocked the city and destroyed homes in the immediate vicinity of the refinery, was felt for 30 miles around and plate glass windows were shattered as far as 3 miles away.

Fire-fighters brought the resulting blaze under control after four hours of work. They estimated damage around $350,000.

Dead and Injured Lists.

There were two explosions. The first, a minor blast, was believed to have been in one of the compressors. The gas released from high pressure shot 30 feet into the air and was ignited by the blazing boilers of the D'Angel Oil Co. rig nearby, bringing about the second two minutes later.

The death list: Ed Weller, 35, Anaheim, oil worker; Duke Gaughan, Bellflower, oil worker; C. J. Brown, Whittier, oil worker; Charles Cope, Long Beach, oil worker; J. L. Shumway, Bellflower, oil worker; Mrs. Lottie Carlyon, Long Beach; Marilyn Carlyon, 8, Long Beach.

Reed Is Hurt

Former Senator and Three Others Escape Death in Plane Crash.

Tulsa, Okla., June 2 (A.P.).—James A. Reed, former United States Senator, and three other persons escaped serious injury in an airplane crash from an altitude of 30 feet today.

Reed suffered a cut on the forehead and bruises about the body. Thorough examination showed no other injuries.

The others hurt were W. E. Gregory, of Kansas City, who had cuts on the head, and R. S. Lee, the pilot, whose face and hands were cut. Both were injured by broken window glass. J. R. Grisham, 20, of Dallas, the fourth person in the ship, was uninjured.

The ship, a transport plane, was taking off for Dallas when the motor quit. The ship was still over the runway. Lee said he saw a hangar not far in front of him and knew the ship would strike it unless he turned.

As he maneuvered to land downwind the ship lost so much forward speed he could not control it and it fell in the first stages of a spin, crumpling a wing and the undercarriage.

Reed, who was en route to San Antonio from St. Louis, probably will be released from the hospital here tomorrow. Gregory also spent the night at the hospital.

FECHNER ASSUMES KIT RESPONSIBILITY

Tells Senators He Got $1.40 Kind Because Army's Seemed Inferior.

(Associated Press.)

Full responsibility for paying $1.40 each for toilet kits for forestation camp employes, which Army officials said could be duplicated for 75 cents, yesterday was assumed by Robert Fechner, director of conservation work, before the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

Just a short while before Fechner appeared in the committee's inquiry into the purchase of 200,000 of the kits from the ReVier Corporation, of New York, Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, quartermaster general, told members Fechner had said he had been ordered by President Roosevelt and his secretary, Louis McHenry Howe, to buy them.

Howe told the committee Thursday his part in the purchase was to in-

Harriman Indicted In False Accounts

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—A new indictment charging Joseph W. Harriman, former chairman, and Albert Murray Austin, vice president of the closed Harriman National Bank & Trust Co., with falsifying the bank's accounts was returned by the Federal grand jury today.

The indictment also contains a count charging the misapplication of $300,000 through the discounting of a promissory note drawn by Sidney Bernheim October 16, 1931, which, it is alleged, was not well secured.

Fourteen counts accuse Harriman and Austin jointly of responsibility for alleged false entries in the books of the bank.

Viscount Ishii expressed appreciation for the courtesy he said had been shown him here and expressed the hope the London conference would be able to bring about economic improvement throughout the world.

Also on board were J. Assis Brasil, head of the Brazilian delegation, and five experts, and Dr. Viriato Gutierres, Cuban delegate.

Oil Blast Shakes Baltimore Suburb

Baltimore, June 2 (A.P.).—Pikesville, a suburb of Baltimore, was shaken violently tonight as a large kerosene storage tank exploded and caught fire.

Two 550-gallon benzene tanks nearby were exploded, but kerosene in another large storage tank was drained out safely.

Nobody was hurt and there was no damage except to the tanks. The cause of the first explosion was not determined.

The tank, with a capacity of 20,000 gallons, contained approximately 500 gallons of kerosene. It was owned by the Shell Oil Co.

The flames were visible for miles around and a heavy pall of smoke covered a wide area. The fire was brought under control by Pikesville firemen.

CANNON SAYS SOUTH HOLDING REPEAL KEY

Bishop Warns 8,500 Pastors to Fight Administration Wet Program.

(Associated Press.)

Bishop James Cannon, jr., yesterday sent 8,500 pastors of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, a statement that the result of the movement for repeal of the eighteenth amendment "rests with the Southern States."

In a letter signed by him as president of the church's board of temperance and social service, and by Eugene L. Crawford, as secretary, the bishop said, "The greatest present danger is the effort to make the repeal of the eighteenth amendment an essential part of the program of the Federal administration."

"We greatly deplore that President Roosevelt emphasized favorably this distressing violation of the Constitution in his radio address on May 7," the letter said, "and declared that 'the sale of beer has already resulted in considerable reemployment and incidentally has provided much needed revenue.'

Revenue Claim Scored.

"President Roosevelt utterly ignored the fact that every beer truck helps to displace a milk truck and that the 'much-needed revenue' will be paid largely by depriving the wives and children of drinking laboring men of the necessities of life.

"Many of our political leaders have utterly failed the people on the prohibition question. They solemnly declared against the return of the saloon, but have sent down to the States for ratification a proposed amendment which repeals the eighteenth amendment outright and offers no substitute whatever. We must therefore face the momentous fact that the repeal of the eighteenth amendment does actually mean the return of the saloon by whatever name it may be called.

"The issue presented is clear and unmistakable. It is not and must not be made a question of partisan politics. It is not a question of supporting the program of the President or of Congress, or the program of any political party. Congress has submitted the question of repeal to the States for decision. This proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment can be defeated in a majority of the 48 States, if the church of Christ recognizes clearly the great moral issue involved and fights as aggressively against repeal as it did for ratification of the eighteenth amendment.

Greatest Present Danger.

"The greatest present danger is the effort to make the repeal of the eighteenth amendment an essential part of the program of the Federal administration. It is generally agreed that the fate of the repeal movement rests with the Southern States. If they vote solidly against repeal it will be defeated. If they are much divided, the issue is doubtful.

"The advocates of repeal, therefore, are bringing all possible pressure upon Southern dry Democrats to vote to support the administration in its demand for repeal as necessary for the success of the financial program of the Government.

"But the followers of the Son of God who was manifested to destroy the work of the devil can never agree that their votes on this great moral question shall be determined by partisan policital expediency or by governmental financial policy."

Body of Man, Tortured With Knife, Is Found

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—The body of a man who had been tortured with a knife and shot to death about 18 hours earlier was found tonight in the rear of a stolen automobile in a sparsely settled section of the Bronx.

Police tentatively identified him as Abraham Durst, of Yonkers, N. Y., who, they said, is wanted in Brooklyn on a criminal charge. Police found in the car a slip of paper on which had been written the details of the manner in which a particular brand of beer is packed for shipment.

ROOSEVELT TO SEEK MORTGAGE HOLIDAY

Halt on Home Foreclosures Indicated When Loan Bill Is Passed.

(Associated Press.)

Word that President Roosevelt intends to ask soon for a moratorium on foreclosure proceedings against small home owners came yesterday at about the same time as a congressional committee approved a bill to aid insolvent municipalities.

The President advised Representative Hartley (Republican), New Jersey, in a letter that he planned to call for a halt on home foreclosures just as soon as the pending home loan mortgage legislation is approved by Congress. This measure, setting up machinery for refinancing the debts, has been passed by the House and is awaiting Senate action.

Meanwhile, by a 9-to-8 vote the House Judiciary Committee approved emergency legislation under which insolvent municipalities could readjust their obligations by petitioning a Federal court. Mayors of several large cities have been pressing for debt relief before adjournment, and it is understood that Mr. Roosevelt favors legislation of this character.

When the President signed the farm mortgage refinancing bill he asked that holders of mortgages not bear down and he intends to request the same sort of relief for city folks.

Despite the vote of approval on the bankruptcy measure, however, Chairman Sumners has called a meeting of the committee for today, with a possible view to reconsidering the action because of the close vote. It was not announced definitely, however, that reconsideration would be given.

BRITAIN'S PAYMENT EXPECTED JUNE 15

establishment last July—or sufficient to permit the government to pay the bulk of the June 15 annuity out of profits, without very much additional burden on the budget. A few weeks ago, reports said the fund had lost heavily, but it was assumed rapid exchange movements recently had made profits.

Chamberlain's statement dealt with the world economic conference, and touched on war debts as a side issue. He said that the separation of war debts from the conference program was "inevitable."

Paris, June 2 (U.P.).—A remote possibility that France might yet pay its June 15 war debt installment was rumored here tonight. This contingency was seen as depending upon two factors, first whether England decides to pay and second whether the United States will agree before that date to a new settlement of the entire war debt question.

Calico Doll

And Teddy Bear Presented to First Lady Causes Libel Suit.

Hartford, Conn., June 2 (U.P.).—An innocent attempt on the part of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to bring about good will between two Hartford business rivals resulted today in a $10,000 libel suit.

Last month Mrs. Ethel Berkowitz, proprietor of one of Hartford's two doll hospitals, sent the First Lady a teddy bear and a calico rag doll. News dispatches from Washington told of the gift and of Mrs. Roosevelt's pleasure in receiving the dolls.

Frederick Hardy, proprietor of the rival doll hospital, read the dispatches and felt slighted. He clipped one of them from a local newspaper and sent it to Mrs. Roosevelt, along with a letter attacking Mrs. Berkowitz's moral character, according to the suit.

Mrs. Roosevelt immediately mailed Hardy's letter to Mrs. Berkowitz along with a letter of her own.

"I have always believed it advisable to be on good terms with one's competitors," she wrote.

Mrs. Berkowitz, however, saw differently and filed suit. Mrs. Roosevelt may be asked to appear as a witness, it was said.

TINKHAM DEMANDS DAVIS BE RECALLED

Representative Says "Ambassador" Held Dishonest by Three Courts.

(Associated Press.)

The recall of Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's Ambassador at Large, was demanded yesterday by Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, who charged during the course of an acrimonious House debate that Davis had been called "dishonest" by two courts.

The New Englander centered one of his contentions on a $15,000 profit reported to have been made by Davis and his copromoters of a Cuban plantation.

Tinkham's speech was made after three days of effort on his part to gain the floor of the House for the purpose of assailing Davis. He wound up by quoting decisions of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court and then adding:

"I demand that the present administration recall Norman H. Davis as the representative of the United States at Geneva and at London."

The court decisions said that Davis and a partner were authorized by an American syndicate to buy $35,000 worth of Cuban land and that by using an intermediary they got it for $20,000. The Las Ovas Co., which was cited as taking over the Cuban plantation for $35,000, was seeking ratification of a cancellation of stocks issued to Davis and his associate for promoting the transaction.

When Tinkham finished, Representative Fish (Republican), New York, asked:

"Is lot not a fact that Norman H. Davis also was indicted in another case in Cuba and is a fugitive from justice?"

Tinkham said he did not know, and Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, interrupted to assert:

"It is eminently unfair, by innuendo upon the floor of this House, to make such an inquiry when the gentleman from Massachusetts (Tinkham), who has endeavored to find something upon which he may base his objections to Mr. Davis, himself states that he has no knowledge of the facts."

SCHACHT FORECASTS DEBTS MORATORIUM

coming next week was regarded by the delegates as certain. Some observers think Dr. Schacht will endeavor to pay a portion of the interest on Germany's debts in foreign currencies and the balance in marks, which must be invested and spent in Germany.

By paying only the interest on bonds held in foreign countries and calling a moratorium on amortization payments, Dr. Schacht may be able to preserve the country's credit.

With the Reichsbank president rests the financial future of his country, the bankers' advisory committee having adjourned after depositing the problem of the moratorium on the Reichsbank's doorstep.

Both long and short term debts would be affected by a moratorium.

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—Although lacking official word on the intimation that Germany would declare a moratorium on all foreign debts next week, international bankers estimated today the Reich annually requires between $225,000,000 and $250,000,000 for service on those obligations.

Germany's income for this year was estimated by those who have been studying her position at from $250,000,000 to more than $350,000,000. In addition substantial credits are due from Russia, although there is some doubt as to whether these will materialize according to schedule.

Without more complete information, bankers hesitated to comment in detail. Considerable surprise was manifest that such a sweeping course of action apparently had been agreed upon by the Hitler government.

Between $1,000,000,000 and $1,200,000,000 of German bonds have been sold in the American market, according to the most reliable estimates, while short term credits total between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000. A substantial amount of these dollar bonds, however, has been repurchased by German Nationals in the past couple of years, it is reported, although accurate figures are difficult to obtain.

Allan Hoover Freed Of Two Traffic Counts

Los Angeles, June 2 (A.P.).—Allan Hoover, son of former President Hoover, was acquitted today on two traffic charges. He was arrested May 20 by Traffic Officer G. W. Sparks. Sparks said Hoover was traveling 38 miles an hour across a 15-mile an hour intersection and had no driver's license.

His attorney appeared in court and explained Hoover had obtained a license since his arrest. The speeding charge was dismissed when the attorney pointed out a defect in the complaint.

The Ryan estate was variously estimated at between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000. It was divided into 54 parts, with Eleanor and her brother, James, receiving five parts to be divided between them under trusteeship. Under this arrangement it was estimated that their shares would total between $8,000,000 and $27,000,000, depending upon the aggregate worth of the estate.

DODDS IS SELECTED TO HEAD PRINCETON

Trustees Deviate From Custom by Naming Political Expert President.

Princeton, N. J., June 2 (A.P.).—Prof. Harold Willis Dodds, political expert and counselor to nations, today was chosen by the Princeton University Board of Trustees, as president to succeed John Grier Hibben, who died in retirement.

Only 44 years old, Prof. Dodds appears some years younger, despite a life of crowded activity since he emerged with a bachelor's degree from Grove City College, in Pennsylvania, in 1909.

Prof. Dodd will take over the administrative chair from Edward D. Duffield, who has been acting president since Dr. Hibben retired a year ago.

At the same time announcement was made of the selection of Luther P. Eisenhart as dean of the graduate school and Robert Kilburn Root as dean of the faculty.

The selection of Prof. Dodds is a departure from the practice of choosing theologians or philosophers since the foundation of the university.

Two presidents of Princeton were younger when chosen, Aaron Burr, who was 32, and Samuel Davies, who was 36.

Prof. Dodds was born June 28, 1889, in Utica, Pa. The son of the Rev. Samuel and Alice A. Dunn Dodds. Prof. Dodds' father now is professor emeritus of Biblical doctrine at Wooster College.

The school, supported by the Holston Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, is located on Garden Creek, 14 miles from Grundy.

A pupil, Nellie Mitchell, was reported to have been slightly injured when her clothing caught fire.

cle course" between Los Angeles and New York.

His time for a coast-to-coast flight has been bettered by pilots who have made refueling stops along the route. The record is held by Capt. James Haizlip, who flew a midget racing plane from ocean to ocean in 10 hours and 19 minutes last September.

The "Skychief" in which he flew today is a Northrop Gamma low-winged all-metal monoplane, built as a flying laboratory especially for aeronautical research flights. It has a cruising speed of 220 miles an hour and a top speed of 250. It holds almost two tons of fuel, of which 616 gallons is gasoline. Its engine attains best results at high altitudes where winds and rarefied atmosphere permit greater speed than in lower levels.

New York (Saturday), June 3 (U. P.).—James Mattern, Texas flier, announced early today that he would take off at 5 a. m. for Berlin on the first leg of a proposed solo flight around the world.

ONE OF 11 CONVICTS CAUGHT; TRAIL HOT

Posses Capture Kansas Bank Robber at Farm; Hunt Presses Into Hills.

Siloam Springs, Ark., June 2 (A.P.).—Posses hunting fugitive convicts from the Kansas Penitentiary pressed on tonight in the rugged Arkansas-Oklahoma border country near here after capturing 1 of the 11 who fled over the prison walls Tuesday.

Lewis Bechtel, who was serving a term for bank robbery, was taken at noon in a farmhouse near Dripping Springs, Okla. Officers surprised Bechtel and he offered no resistance. He was placed in jail at Jay, Okla.

Other posses were trailing two companions of Bechtel, believed in hiding in the hills nearby.

Meanwhile, definite trace of the eight other Kansas fugitives was lacking, although officers in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri were pursuing every likely clew in a widespread manhunt.

Steps to prevent a recurrence of the sensational break, in which the warden and two guards were kidnaped, were taken today by the Kansas Governor, Alf M. Landon. At Topeka he ordered more firearms and tear gas bombs sent to the prison officers and declared efficiency of the prison methods must be improved.

At the same time he announced a six-month good time allowance for approximately 1,000 convicts who did not attempt to escape. At the prison the new warden, Lacey Simpson, ordered that "under no circumstances shall a guard permit a prisoner to go through a gate, tower or over the wall." Kirk Prather was the warden kidnaped and carried to Welch, Okla., by the fugitives. He was freed unharmed.

Bechtel's capture came after a posse headed by Sheriff Earl Curtis, of Delaware County, Okla., had engaged three fleeing men in an early morning gun fight 20 miles south of Jay, Okla. Officers said Bechtel was one of the three, who escaped on foot after abandoning their stolen automobile.

INDEPENDENT OFFICE BILL PASSES SENATE

as the most efficient in the country, he offered an amendment to extend their leaves to the 30-day period they have received in the past.

Again, Senator Byrnes made a point of order. Again, Senator Sam G. Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, who was in the chair, sustained the point. The South Carolina senator, expressing regret at having to make the point, declared he intended to be consistent in seeing that all employes were treated alike.

Failure of the effort to attach the Sirovich plan for a Civil Service Court of Appeals to the bill followed hasty conferences yesterday between members of Congress and President Mitchell, of the Civil Service Commission, at which the plan was perfected with a view to special session passage.

Appeal Set-Up Described.

The plan as revised would have called for appointment by the Civil Service Commission of a Federal "liaison officer" with 15 years' Federal service. He would hear all employe complaints and his findings would be binding on department heads, except that they could appeal to the Civil Service Commission within 30 days. The three Civil Service Commissioners, sitting as a Civil Service Court of Appeals, would be the ultimate arbiters.

In raising a point of order, Senator Byrnes said he had not had time to study the measure and felt it should receive committee scrutiny before passed on by the Senate.

Representative Sirovich later said the South Carolinian assured him he would study the plan and there would be an opportunity to offer it as a rider to other measures coming up in the Senate next week.

Senator Byrnes, who, in handling the bill, was active in defeating all but committee amendments, also succeeded in blocking an effort by Senator Lynn J. Frazier (Republican), North Dakota, to have the Senate reconsider its vote eliminating a section giving the President authority to furlough military officers on half pay.

Senator Byrnes said representative Army officers assured him they would prefer dismissals, if need be, to the half-pay furlough provisions. Senator Frazier said he thought a large economy was involved, and expressed a hope that the conferees would again put the provision into the bill.

While the House Civil Service Committee yesterday prepared to open its investigation of Federal personnel policies, the Senate Civil Service Committee announced hearings for 10:30 a. m. today on the King bill releasing from Civil Service status employes "covered over" into the Civil Service by Executive order during the Hoover administration.

If approved the bill would "uncover" employes already transferred to the Civil Service by Executive order, and preclude such "covering over" in the future.

FOUR-POWER TREATY AGAIN STRIKES SNAG

Germany Refusing to Sign Unless France Cuts War Materials.

Geneva, Switzerland, June 2 (A.P.).—The initialing of Premier Mussolini's Four-Power Peace Pact has again encountered last-minute difficulties, reports here today said.

Germany was placed in the role of obstructor by these reports which declared that Chancellor Hitler's government would not sign the agreement until it is assured that France will reduce her war materials.

The Mussolini four-power agreement was designed to bring together Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy to protect European peace.

Its signature or initialing has been delayed from time to time when one or other of its parties advanced objections.

Berlin, June 2 (A.P.).—A German foreign office spokesman denied today that Germany is delaying the conclusion of the Mussolini Four-Power Pact.

Germany, the spokesman said, was ready to sign, but France and Italy presented amendments which made further negotiations necessary.

Capital Man One Of 3 Facing Jury

North Brunswick, N. J., June 2 (A.P.).—Four men were in jail today awaiting the action of the Middlesex County grand jury on charges of possession of burglars' tools and carrying concealed weapons.

The four were arrested after a chase on the superhighway yesterday by Motor Vehicle Inspector George A. Ryan, who said they drove past his automobile at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

They gave their names as Stanley Konkiewicz, 39, of Carteret; Tony Russo, 25, of New York; William Conway, 23, the Bronx, N. Y., and Terence Lee, 27, of Washington, D. C. Police found three loaded revolvers and burglars' tools in their automobile.

Japanese to Buy More Cotton Here

San Francisco, June 2 (A.P.).—Japan will buy 100,000 more bales of cotton from the United States this year than in 1932, and a great deal more if a boycott on cotton grown in India becomes effective, was the word brought here today by Shinkichi Ohshimo, manager of the Southern Cotton Co., of Dallas Tex., returning from a short trip to Japan and China.

Mr. Ohshimo said his company expected to purchase around 400,000 bales of Texas cotton this year and 60 per cent of the California crop.

Japan bought 1,400,000 bales of American cotton last year, he said, and 2,400,000 in 1931.

NOTED SHIPBUILDER EXPIRES HERE AT 98

Charles T. Belbin Helped to Design Many Famous "Baltimore Clippers."

Charles Thomas Belbin, 98, codesigner of many of the famous old "Baltimore clipper" ships, died Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Taylor, of 2959 Tilden street northwest.

In earlier years Mr. Belbin maintained a shop along the Baltimore waterfront where he was a shipsmith, and for 40 years conducted his shop at Cross street and Key highway. In the days when his shop flourished the Patapsco Basin was lined with shipyards that turned out craft whose fame was world wide.

Mr. Belbin, who had lived in Washington the last three years, came to the United States from his native England when he was 20 years old.

Funeral services will be held today in Baltimore where interment will be made in Loudon Park Cemetery.

Besides his daughter, he is survived by two other children, Arthur and Grace D. Belbin, of Washington.

Dog Wakes Man in Fire; Saves Life Fourth Time

Imperial Beach, Calif., June 2 (A.P.).—A fox terrier aroused Bob Law, dog breeder, early today by jumping on his bed and tugging at his blankets. Law found the house full of smoke from a short circuit.

He recalled that during 36 years given to raising and tending dogs the same thing had been done for him thrice before, once on the Irene Castle farm at Lake Forest, Ill., where he worked; again at the Armour estate at Lake Forest, and also at the Strauss-Berger estate at Philadelphia, where the fire destroyed a valuable racing stable.

750 Conservation Corps Workers Arrive in Idaho

Boise, Idaho, June 2 (A.P.).—Two trains bringing civilian conservation corps workers to Western Idaho rolled into Boise today and curious New York and New Jersey youths climbed out into the bright sunlight to marvel at the mountains and the magnificent distances.

Trucks were immediately loaded with baggage to move ten cadres into the forest in the vicinity of Boise where camps are being built. Others went to McCall, Long Valley and other campsites.

COAST OIL DISASTER EXACTS HEAVY TOLL

the Rev. and Mrs. J. E. McDonald, bruises and lacerations; Mrs. J. G. Steele, minor cuts; Miss Hazel Steele, 17, minor cuts; Miss Peggy Steele, 20, minor cuts.

Pastor Describes Effect.

The effect of the explosion was described by the Rev. Dr. McDonald, retired Baptist minister, who said:

"I was sitting in my home and it just seemed to fall around me."

The fire, swept before a sharp breeze, covered more than a block before the flames were brought under control. Two homes were burned to the ground, as well as oil rigs of the Italo, Hancock and d'Angelo companies.

Six men were known to have been in the refinery at the time of the second blast, and several workers at surrounding oil derricks were unreported tonight. Five charred bodies, all identified, were taken from the Richfield plant ruins.

Mrs. Lottie Carlyon and her 8-year-old daughter were caught in their home as the flames burst forth with the second blast and burned to death. The husband and father, Thomas F. Carlyon, and another daughter were downtown when the explosion occurred.

Navy's Assistance Given.

Walls were blown out of the side of stucco houses and several frame structures collapsed from the terrific blast.

Of the injured, one, Howard Hargrove, was reported to be in critical condition.

Immediately after the explosion 750 Reconstruction Finance Corporation workers, who were busy on the construction of a stadium a mile away, were rushed to the scene. They constructed an improvised dam to stop the flow of crude oil, which swept down the streets toward Long Beach city proper.

One hundred and fifty Marines and bluejackets also were pressed into service, doing police duty around the area of the explosion.

Authorities expressed the belief that the death count might mount to fifteen before the night was over. As the firemen subdued the flames workers rushed in on the still smoldering debris in search of others missing since the explosion.

League Revised Report Asks Manchuko's End

Geneva, June 2 (U.P.).—The non-recognition of Manchukuo committee of the League of Nations adopted a revised report today which asks governments, including the United States, to seek dissolution of Manchukuo.

This would be accomplished, the report provides, by refusing to recognize Manchukuo officialdom or administrative services, such as posts and telegraphs. The full Manchurian advisory committee of the league meets next Wednesday to approve the report.

Cruel to Awaken Hogs Early, Is Plea

St. Louis, June 2 (A.P.).—Whether it was cruel to wake 230 hogs sleeping in a railroad car at 5 o'clock on a chilly November morning is a question in a suit filed by the Government against the Wabash Railroad here today.

The hogs came here in November, 1931, from Sioux City, Iowa, and at 5 a. m. the 36 hours which the Government says is the time limit for live stock to ride in a railroad car were up, but the porkers were not released until 30 minutes later, when they were led to the butchers.

In its answer to the suit the railroad avers it would have been cruel to wake the grunters at 5 a. m. that cold November morning, with the temperature at 39 degrees Fahrenheit.

ROSENDAHL ADVISES MORE U. S. AIRSHIPS

Declares Weather Did Not Destroy Akron; Puts Blame on Altimeter.

(Associated Press.)

A program that would give the United States three huge dirigibles, including the Macon and Los Angeles, and provide for immediate training of airship crews, was recommended to Congress yesterday by Lieut. Comdr. C. E. Rosendahl, Navy dirigible expert.

Rosendahl, testifying before the Special Congressional Committee of the Akron crash, proposed the Government promptly begin construction of a ship to replace the Akron. He suggested also that the Los Angeles, now partly dismantled in her Lakehurst (N. J.) hangar be recommissioned for training and experimental purposes.

Construction of still another training ship also was recommended by Rosendahl, who said that upon completion of such a dirigible the Los Angeles should be retained for experiments not possible in wind tunnels with scale models.

Rosendahl, who at one time commanded the Akron, differed with the opinion of some of the witnesses before the naval board of inquiry on the disaster. He declared that the ship did not break up in the air in the storm off the Jersey coast.

"There seems to be an opinion that the Akron was destroyed by weather," the commander told the committee, "when, as a matter of fact, she was destroyed by violent contact with the water."

The major contributing cause to the crash of the giant dirigible into the sea, said Rosendahl, was the "inaccuracy of barometric altimeters." A difference in air pressure, said the commander, probably caused the ship's altimeter to register inaccurately a few moments before the crash.

"Instead of being at 1,600 feet, as recorded by the altimeter," said the commander, referring to testimony of Akron survivors, "she could not have been more than 1,300 and very probably considerable less."

He included in his recommendations that the Government pursue development of a nonbarometric altimeter, free of the inherent defects of the pressure altimeter.

China Alone Fills Peace Pact Terms

Peiping, June 2 (A.P.).—China has already complied with the terms of the recently signed Sino-Japanese armistice, Chinese military authorities said today. The Chinese troops have withdrawn to the south of the demilitarized zone, their leaders said, and it is now the duty of the Japanese to withdraw northward to the Great Wall in accordance with the truce, "although no signs of such withdrawal are yet evident."

Chinese authorities stated today that a special police force whose duty shall be to patrol the demilitarized zone is being formed to take over supervision of the area as soon as Japanese forces withdraw.

Peiping was normal again today and Chinese who fled from the city on the approach of the Japanese troops two weeks ago were returning.

Roosevelt Opposes Cut In Youths' Club Work

Kansas City, June 2 (A.P.).—President Roosevelt's hope of avoiding "curtailment of all character building agencies during this difficult period" was expressed tonight in a message to the national council of the Boy Scouts of America, in session here.

"Surely our youth—the boy of scout age—should not be handicapped because of the current conditions for which he is in no way responsible," the President wrote to Walter W. Head, president of the Boy Scouts of America.

$20,000 Damages Claimed In Barrage of Phone Calls

Harry Solomon, an insurance agent, of 130 Webster street northwest, yesterday sought the aid of the District Supreme Court in bringing to an end what he termed a barrage of telephone calls from a clothing company that adopted that method of trying to collect from Solomon's colored maid a bill allegedly owed the clothier by the maid's husband.

In a petition filed in the District Supreme Court, Solomon named Arthur Sloan, trading as the Square Deal Clothing Co., 723 Seventh street northwest, Eva Sloan and H. Kapiloff as defendants.

Through Attorneys Milton Strasburger and I. H. Minowitz, Solomon claimed that from May 16 up to the present time the defendants have continued to "unlawfully, maliciously and spitefully telephoned" his home from 9 in the morning until late at night. He complained that the "health, happiness and comfort" of his family, as well as himself, have been impaired.

Solomon complained also that his business had been impaired and that he had suffered "great and irreparable damage." It was his allegation that he had been notified either to have his maid pay up the debt, or discharge her, both of which he has declined to do. He demanded $20,000 damages and an injunction to prevent the defendants from calling his home.

LAMSON IS ACCUSED OF MURDERING WIFE

Formal Charge in Stanford Campus Mystery Leaves Prisoner Unshaken.

San Jose, Calif., June 2 (A.P.).—While his attorney and friends continued to voice belief in his innocence, David A. Lamson, business agent for the Stanford University Press, was charged today with the murder of his attractive wife, Allene, 28, whose body, with the head gashed, was found in the bathtub of their Stanford campus home Tuesday.

The charge was sworn to by Sheriff William Emig, while Lamson remained in a jail cell under the eyes of two trusties assigned to watch him. A conference of investigators and the district attorney's office preceded the filing of the accusation.

Dr. Frederick Proescher, county chemist, declined to confirm reports he had found bloodstains on a short length of pipe taken from a bonfire which Lamson had been attending in the back yard the morning of the death.

The chemist said his examination had not been completed.

Lamson had just bid good-by to his mother, Mrs. A. B. Lamson; his sister, Dr. Margaret Lamson, and his infant daughter, when the charge was lodged. As the warrant was served on him he looked at it and said:

"I'm sorry, for I am not guilty. I still believe she was murdered, but I did not do it."

U. S. RESTS CASE AGAINST MITCHELL

Banker, If Convicted, May Get 10 Years in Prison and $20,000 Fine.

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—The Government completed its case today against Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank, charged with evading $850,000 income taxes in 1929 and 1930. In the event of conviction he would face a maximum penalty of ten years' imprisonment and $20,000 fine.

Max D. Steuer, the banker's attorney, said the defense's first move when court reconvenes Monday would be a motion to dismiss the charge. If this is denied he will be prepared to introduce his witnesses, and both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, he said, will take the stand.

United States Attorney George Z. Medalie concluded the presentation of evidence he started three weeks ago with the testimony of Martin Kunkel, a special agent of the Treasury Department, who contrasted Mitchell's tax returns showing net losses with the Government's computations showing profits.

As the prosecutor said "the Government rests," Mitchell leaned across the counsel table and congratulated Steuer on his conduct of the cross-examination.

Except for Kunkel's testimony, Steuer's cross-questioning of Frank J. Maguire, assistant secretary-treasurer of the National City Co., occupied the entire day.

NATIONAL DEBT IS GROWING AT RATE OF $10,000,000 DAILY

on a rather chimerical dual-budget arrangement it is practically impossible for any one to know the exact state of Federal finances. This difficulty arises mostly from the fact that even officials of the R. F. C. are unable to estimate what portion of the Government "loans" now outstanding may reasonably be carried as sound assets against the public debt.

In outlining his plans for a balanced budget in 1934, President Roosevelt told his Friday press conference yesterday that savings approximating $1,000,000,000 a year have been realized in the ordinary operating budget of the Government since March 1. The President expresses confidence that next year's budget will be within $125,000,000 of a balance. This calculation, however, does not include the emergency items which may be carried on the second budget. Roughly, such items now authorized will call for a further increase of approximately $3,000,000,000 in the national debt before June 30, 1934, the end of the next fiscal year.

Since June 30, 1930 the national debt, as officially reported by the Treasury, has increased from $16,200,000,000 to its present figure of $21,800,000,000, an increase of $5,668,000,000 in three years and eleven months.

In round numbers, $2,000,000,000 of this increase has been dispensed through the R. F. C. since February, 1932. How much of this net balance outstanding will be repaid eventually to the Treasury is a matter of conjecture. Authoritative unofficial estimates place eventual repayments at roughly $1,000,000,000.

Trend Since World War.

The following table indicates the fall and subsequent expansion of the national debt since World War days:

	Gross debt.
March 31, '17.....	$1,282,044,346
August 31, '19.....	26,596,701,648
June 30, '30.....	16,185,308,299
June 30, '31.....	16,801,281,492
June 30, '32.....	19,487,002,444
February 28, '33...	20,934,729,209
March 31, '33.....	21,362,464,177
April 30, '33.....	21,441,209,176
May 31, '33.....	21,851,385,981

As of March 31, 1917, the week before America entered the World War, the national debt stood at $11.96 per capita. The 1919 peak was $240.15 per capita, and the postwar low, 1930, $133.53 per capita. The figure for May 31, 1933, was $174.13 per capita, or $713.93 for the average family.

At the average rate of interest of 3 per cent, the carrying charge on the present debt is approximately $657,000,000 a year.

Effect of Dual Budget.

For the first eleven months of the current fiscal year, 1933, total Treasury receipts, for both the general and special funds, were $1,793,267,654.85.

Total expenditures for the same 11 months have aggregated $3,477,500,374.51. These expenditures do not include Treasury advance to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but do include a bookkeeping item of $425,000,000 for statuatory debt retirement.

The profound mysteries introduced into the fiscal affairs of the National Government by the dual budget system are suggested by the following facts presented in yesterday's official Treasury summary:

In the 11 months since June 30, 1932, the national debt has increased by $2,366,000,000, but the Treasury statement shows a deficit for that period of only $1,684,232,719. The difference between these figures, $682,000,000, is absorbed in Treasury advances of $1,194,714,737.99 to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since last July 1.

Britain Threatens Economic Conflict

London, June 2 (U.P.).—Great Britain is prepared unflinchingly to pursue economic warfare against rival nations unless they change their economic policies, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, said in the House of Commons today.

Chamberlain, making this statement during discussion of war debts, commented:

"All of us, I am sure, regret the economic warfare which has arisen between us and other countries—but we must maintain that warfare as long as other countries, who are taking the aggressive, are unwilling to make reparation and restitution for the wrong they have done us."

GRADUAL, BUT SURE REFORMS ARE SEEN

Reorganization Pace Not to Affect Economy Policy of White House.

The decision of President Roosevelt not to promulgate all Government reorganization plans at this time does not mean the shelving of the proposed drastic changes in the Federal establishment, it was learned authoritatively yesterday.

Instead of making the changes all at once, they will be announced singly over a period of time. This gradual reorganization has two advantages over the original plan to make all changes immediately. Any unworkable condition set up by the changes may be studied and remedied with greater ease if the plan is put into effect gradually. Also unemployment created by the reorganization will be spread over a lengthy time, the workers being released a few at a time, thereby having a better chance to find places in private industry.

Changes within departments are being put into effect at the rate of about one per day, it was learned, as these do not have to be submitted to Congress. Changes which involve more than one department also are being made where they do not have to be submitted to Congress. From twelve to fourteen rearrangements which must have congressional sanction will be sent to the Hill some time next week. The reorganization plan is "proceeding in an orderly way, but won't be finished for some time."

Gradual reorganization will not affect the President's economy program, it was stressed by the administration. As an example, the Department of Commerce will be cut $12,000,000 whether or not any reorganization is made there. The reorganization plans for this department will only save about $1,500,000. The bulk of the saving in Commerce will be made by dropping employes. For instance, all but about 50 of the 270 foreign trade commissioners of the department will be dropped at the beginning of the next fiscal year. The saving from this will be immediate, although reorganization plans for the department will not go through until later.

Another example of saving lies in the proposal to set up a central purchasing bureau to standardize all government purchases and buy in bulk. The savings from such a bureau would be about $1,000,000, but this, it was pointed out, is only a drop in the bucket compared to the $1,000,000,000 economy which is in sight through the elimination of some Government functions.

FIRST ADD REOR

President's Pre-Campaign Pledge.

The billion-dollar saving will carry out the President's precampaign pledge to cut Federal expenses by 25 per cent, the budget being slightly more than $4,000,000,000 per year.

Savings in the amount spent by the Veteran's Administration amount to about $400,000,000, while $450,000,000 is being saved by cutting expenses of the various departments. The cut in the salaries of Government workers amounts to $125,000,000, bringing the total to $975,000,000.

Through these savings the budget is almost balanced on the basis of present tax revenues. A deficit of only $120,000,000 faces the Federal Treasury for the next fiscal year, and this may be reduced if improved business conditions increase the revenue from income and other taxes.

Roper Heads Committee.

The saving of $400,000,000 in veterans' costs will not be greatly decreased by amendments to the new regulations covering compensation and hospitalization, it is expected. New legislation on this subject may cut the saving very materially, however.

The Government reorganization plan has been under study almost since March 4, a committee headed by Secretary of Commerce Roper having been appointed to study it and draw up a plan. The President returned the draft of the plan to the committee several times, asking for minor changes in it or for further study of some phases. But before the plan was first submitted, drastic slashes in departmental appropriations were made, without regard to the provisions of the reorganization.

Among the proposals which are under study is one to transfer the Bureau of Mines from the Department of Commerce to the Department of the Interior. This is understood to have been approved, and it probably will be included in the first changes made.

Another Consolidation Plan.

Another plan called for the consolidation of all Government agencies dealing with transportation into a single Bureau of Transportation under the Department of Commerce. It is expected that this will be among the later plans to be promulgated, as it is one of the most complex of the changes. In general, it is expected that the simpler and least controversial plans will be effected first.

The consolidation of the Bureau of Prohibition and the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol has received tentative approval and is also likely to be one of the earlier changes. Some agencies now under the Interstate Commerce Commission may be put into the Department of Commerce under the plan.

Some changes in the present status of the commodity divisions of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is also possible, in order to make them the nucleus of the organization to administer the industrial control bill. While they could serve in this capacity while still in the Department of Commerce, it is entirely possible that they will be made into a separate agency under the administrator of the control bill.

Grosner Appeals To Senate Group

On behalf of the retailers of men's wear of the United States, Gerald D. Grosner, of Grosner's Clothing Store, 1326 F street northwest, yesterday appealed to the Senate Finance Committee to guard against the possibility of one industry being placed at the mercy of another under the national industrial recovery act.

He pointed out that under the act manufacturers will be empowered to fix minimum prices, contracts and production. "We as retailers want the Government to grant power to manufacturers that will only permit them to fix trade practices affecting only themselves," he said. "Trade practices concerning both manufacturers and retailers, or retailers alone, should include recognition of retailers through their associations."

4-Foot Snake Silences Horn on Oregon Auto

Redmond, Oreg., June 2 (A.P.).—When A. E. Wells tried to toot the horn on his motor car he received nothing but silence for his efforts. Pressing a couple of times extra for good measure and still getting no noise, he lifted the hood to investigate.

A slender 4-foot-long snake was curled contentedly about the horn. Wells hasn't found out yet what kind of a snake it was.

World War veterans than was contemplated in meeting the original provisions of the economy act.

There was no word from the White House as to the feeling of the President toward the amendment, but there were strong indications the House would accept the addition.

Despite Byrnes' statement early in the long session of debate that the President was taking steps to remedy injustices in the cuts announced to take effect July 1, and the acceptance by the South Carolinian of a proposed amendment by Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, limiting World War veterans' cuts to 25 per cent, the Senate voted 59 to 21 to suspend the rules to permit consideration of a more liberal amendment.

Trammell (Democrat), Florida, moved the rules suspension to permit consideration of an amendment limiting world war cuts to 15 per cent and won the required two-thirds margin easily. This was the first set-back for administration leaders.

The 15 per cent proposal, however, never came to a vote as the Connally amendment substituted 25 per cent and added the Spanish War feature, and it carried.

Two '33 Graduates Wed at Annapolis

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 2.—Although commencement day at the Naval Academy was not followed by the customary rush to wed by the newly commissioned ensigns, by reason of the Navy Department's ban until after two years' service, at least two of those who retired to civil life led brides to the marriage altar here today.

Both of the weddings were celebrated in the academy chapel, and the ceremonies were performed by the chaplain, Commander Frank H. Lash. First of the weddings which took place at noon was that of Clarence A. Kellar, jr., of Wichita, Kans., and Miss Virginia Coppage, of Cherrydale, Va. Half an hour later the ceremony uniting William H. Sublette, of West Colorado Springs, and Miss Edith A. Treff, of Delaware.

For a number of years there have been a score or more of weddings in a single day following commencement, the academy chapel furnishing the setting for most of them.

Hotel Men Hear Appeal for Repeal

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 2 (A.P.).—Members of the Southern Hotel Association today urged to unite in a campaign for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Addressing the organization's annual convention, Thomas D. Green, of New York, president of the American Hotel Association, asserted hotel men are organizing in every State to end prohibition.

He said the revenue from liquor would support reemployment programs, and that repeal would help "eliminate the racketeer and the gangster."

Reports that the Southern association gained in membership during the last year were made by W. E. Hockett, of Richmond, Va., president.

Prince Marries Today; German City Celebrates

Bonn, Germany, June 2 (A.P.).—Festivities leading up to the marriage tomorrow of Prince Wilhelm, eldest son of the former German crown prince, and Dorothea von Salviati, a commoner of Italian descent, commenced tonight with a torchlight procession.

University students affiliated with the steel helmet war veterans national organization participated, led by a student band playing martial tunes. Thousands of citizens lined the street.

Second Try to Give Show Fails Though House Is Full

All was in readiness last night for a second attempt to present "A Song in the Night," musical play being sponsored by the Fourth Police Precinct, at the Belasco Theater. And then things happened.

First, the musicians' union stepped in. They wanted, it seems, some pay for the orchestra's services. Miss Edna Buckler, author, producer and star of the show, was not prepared. She thought they would wait until the final curtain for their money.

Then came hurried conferences. A bond was raised, sufficient to pay off the musicians. Again all was in readiness. But lo! A messenger appeared. He had a telegram. It said that Mary Hutchinson, ingenue of the cast, could not possibly reach the theater in time for the performance.

This failed to discourage Miss Buckler. She announced to the crowded theater that the play would be produced yet. She set two weeks from last night as the date—to be certain nothing else would happen. Last Friday the show was called off because of failure to receive scenery.

QUIZZING OF MORGAN PARTNER PROTESTED

Davis Wrangles With Probe Counsel Over Question to T. S. Lamont.

this," he said. "I'm not certain, but I think I'm coming back."

Partners directed to return were young Lamont, his father, Thomas W. Lamont; Arthur M. Anderson, Harold Stanley, William Ewing and George Whitney, the member who has done most of the testifying.

Firm Pledges 40 Millions.

In discussing the days of 1929 when the market headed abruptly for the depths, Whitney told in a matter-of-fact manner how Morgan & Co. pledged $40,000,000 as their share in an operation that bought 1,146,809 shares in 37 corporation stocks between October 24 and November 11, and then completed liquidation some time the following March.

The shares were bought for $137,752,705 and sold for $138,820,080, Whitney said, "though there was no thought of any profit."

"At one time our book loss was $40,000,000," he added.

Many times during the day the audience laughed at Whitney's sharpcut answers. Morgan, smoking occasionally, often smiled at his partner.

Lamont was sitting beside Junius Morgan, the son of J. P. Morgan, when his name was called. He had to push his way forward to take the oath.

After Lamont gave his name and address, Pecora listed the following blocks of stock:

1,500 Continental Oil.
200 Durium Products.
300 Hall Electric Heating.
237 P. R. Mallory Co.
1,000 Shamrock Oil & Gas.
500 State Street Investment Co.
350 Investment Corporation of Philadelphia.
1,000 Simms Petroleum.

"Not Fair," Davis Says.

Then he asked if Lamont had sold these on December 30, 1930.

"That is not fair," interrupted Davis, standing behind Lamont's chair.

"No notice was given that the individual transactions of the partners would be gone into. I don't believe it enters the scope of the inquiry."

"I have learned of no fixed procedure since I have been counsel of this committee," Pecora replied. "This committee or any Senate committee may ask any question it desires."

"I don't believe any man in this room could give an accurate reply about such transactions without prior notice," Davis contended.

"We'll give him time to inform himself," Pecora retorted.

Morgan sat nearby during the interchange, hands folded, listening intently.

"But if you go into the individual transactions of 20 men we'll be here until the snow flies," Davis protested.

"I submit it is not fair play. It was fair to give us notice of the matter wanted and I submit it was supplied with a thoroughness that could not be excelled. I insist on fair play."

List of Personal Loans.

"Does the witness say he can not answer." Pecora demanded, looking past Davis to Lamont.

"This is not an orderly procedure," Davis put in with equal firmness.

"If the witness can't answer let him say so," Pecora said. "I'm perfectly willing to give him an opportunity to inform himself."

Fletcher interposed "it's up to the chair to rule" and told Pecora to proceed.

"I have no recollection of that," Lamont replied when again asked the question. Pecora then suggested the recess so the witness could prepare himself "to answer it fully."

During the day a list of officers and directors of corporations to whom Morgan & Co. extended personal loans from 1927 to 1931 was put in the record. It included Frank W. Stearns, friend of the late former President Calvin Coolidge, and E. W. Marland, now a representative from Oklahoma.

Marland $1,500,000 Loan.

Marland told newspapermen he once borrowed $1,500,000 from the firm to pay income taxes, putting up Marland Oil stock and Southland Royalty stock as collateral and repaying the loan in full.

Whitney said the 1929 bankers' pool was begun on "the first day of chaos" when the vice president of the Stock Exchange—his brother, Richard Whitney—and several other bankers came to Morgan & Co.

"We decided to form the suspense account in the hope of preserving order in the financial community," Whitney said.

"Those attending the first conference included Prosser, of the Bankers Trust; Potter, of the Guaranty Trust; Wiggin, of the Chase National; Mitchell, of the National City, and George F. Baker, jr., of the First National Bank."

Denies Stocks "Connected."

The operation which sought to halt the downward plunge was participated in by seven firms, named by Whitney as the First Securities Co., the Chase Securities Corporation, the Guaranty Co., the National City Co., the Bankers Co., Guggenheim Bros. and J. P. Morgan & Co.

Pecora went over one by one the 37 stocks dealt in by the pool. Whitney agreed that the firms could be shown to have some connection with many of the corporations whose stock was purchased, but denied this was deliberate.

"There was no effort to buy stocks with which there was a relation," he stated emphatically. "They were chosen purely as the most effective way of doing the operation."

Reynolds started the day with questions about the distribution of bargain price stock that was allotted to the Morgan London and Paris houses. Whitney was unable to supply the client lists.

Royalty's Names Drawn In.

"Have you heard that King Albert of Belgium participated in the distribution of the stock that went to the Paris branch?" Reynolds asked.

"No," Whitney said.

"Have you heard that any of the stock went to King George of England or members of his family?"

"No, I'm sure it did not."

"Have you heard that some of it went to an official of the Italian government—I'm not sure about the pronunciation of his name—sometimes I call him 'Muzzolini' and sometimes 'Muzzoloni?'"

Whitney laughed and shook his head negatively.

"Have you heard that some politicians in France were on the list?"

"I have not and am very confident they were not," Whitney replied.

Car Puzzles

Hotel Receivers as Two Persons Claim Vehicle; Court to Decide.

An expensive Rolls-Royce automobile is proving a "white elephant" to the receivers of the Shoreham Hotel, they indicated yesterday when they filed a petition in the District Supreme Court to have the title and ownership of the machine settled.

Two persons claim the machine, the court was told. One is Mrs. Gladys Pitts, wife of G. Bryan Pitts, former head of the F. H. Smith Co., and the other is H. O. Hart, Pitts' personal accountant.

Hart, the suit shows, pledged the machine for a bill of $1,078 he owed the Shoreham, in May, 1932. Shortly thereafter Hart paid his bill and demanded the car. In the meantime, Mrs. Pitts' attorney, Richard L. Merrick, wrote the Shoreham stating that the car was her property and that if the hotel delivered it to any one else it did so at its own risk.

The lawyer contended Mrs. Pitts had purchased the car when it was sold at public auction by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which had seized four Rolls-Royces from Pitts because of alleged deficiencies in his income taxes.

Hart, on the other hand, claimed he gave to M. D. Carmichael, of West Palm Beach, a business associate, the money to purchase the car, and the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of Florida wrote here that Carmichael did have title. Carmichael authorized the receivers, Spencer Gordon, John E. Leaky and Francis H. Duehay, to turn the machine over to Hart.

The receivers want the court to tell them what to do with the car.

LICENSING REMOVED FROM REVIVAL BILL

Enforcement Weapon Taken Out of President's Plan by Senate Group.

(United Press.)

The Senate Finance Committee last night extracted the teeth from President Roosevelt's national industrial recovery bill.

The committee voted to eliminate the licensing provision, which constitutes the administration's only weapon in enforcing minimum wages, maximum working hours and trade agreements.

Chairman Harrison of the committee said every effort would be made to restore the licensing clause when the bill—already passed by the House—reaches the Senate floor.

"Licensing is the only bludgeon in the bill," Harrison said. "You can rest assured that every attempt will be made to restore it."

To Aid 6,000,000 Men.

Under the terms of the recovery bill, which is expected to send 6,000,000 men back to work, the President would be empowered to issue licenses to trade associations.

His only means of enforcing regulations to prevent unbridled competition would be through the power to revoke those licenses.

The action of the Senate Finance Committee last night deprives him of that power.

The administration suffered another setback when an amendment offered by Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, was adopted. It gave the President power to prepare an embargo on shipments of foreign goods which might act unfavorably on the operation of the bill.

Oil Amendment Defeated.

A strenuous fight will be made on the Senate floor to eliminate that amendment to the measure, leaders said.

The third administration defeat of the evening came when an oil control amendment, drafted by Secretary of Interior Ickes, was defeated by a vote of 11 to 7. The amendment was designed to control oil production through agreements of purchasers with the ultimate aim of conserving natural resources.

The committee then rejected the Capper-Marland oil control amendment by a vote of 17 to 1.

An amendment offered by Senator Clark (Democrat), Missouri, to replace the administrator of the public works section of the bill with a board of three members was adopted. Maximum salaries for the board members were set at $10,000 annually and their nomination must be confirmed by the Senate.

Narrow Escape for Bill.

The administration came close to an overwhelming defeat at the outset of the meeting when a motion to strike out the entire industrial control section of the measure was defeated by the hair-line margin of 2 votes.

This vote was 10 to 8.

The committee did not reach the highly controversial taxation section of the bill last night, but will consider it today.

At that time Harrison intends to offer his tax plan which would do away with the necessity of raising income levies in the lower brackets in order to obtain $230,000,000 annual revenue to take care of interest and sinking fund charges on the $3,800,000,000 public works program.

Morgan Partners Pay $2,000 a Day for Stay

(Associated Press.)

Just about $2,000 a day is understood in hotel circles here to be what it is costing J. P. Morgan, his partners, aids and retainers to stay in the Capital.

The party has most of five floors in the Carlton Hotel. They also have their meals there and keep a number of their own automobiles ready for instant use.

Half a dozen Morgan partners have been here under subpena this week, for which they may collect from the Government $3 a day for living expenses. They also may collect their railroad fare, but not the extra Pullman fare.

PRESIDENT'S OCEAN TRIP BEGINS JUNE 10

Roosevelt and Sons to Sail Amberjack II to Canadian Border.

New Bedford, Mass., June 2 (A.P.).—Way for a sailor! And have a man on the flag halyard to dip the colors if you pass the trim little schooner Amberjack II anywhere between this old port and the Canadian border after June 10, for Capt. Franklin D. Roosevelt, otherwise President of the United States, will be in command.

The New Bedford Standard Times announced today it had been informed by Mrs. Roosevelt that June 10 had been tentatively set as the start of the President's vacation cruise. He will visit his old friend, Dr. William McDonald, who guided him back to health after an infantile paralysis attack in 1921, at the physician's Marion home, just below here on Buzzards Bay, and then the cruise will begin, the paper said.

Other Presidents have taken vacations on the ocean, but usually on larger vessels, such as the late presidential yacht, Mayflower, which was destroyed by fire at the Philadelphia Navy Yard after President Hoover ordered her out of commission.

Grover Cleveland did some sailing in catboats on Buzzards Bay.

But the present occupant of the White House is a deep-water, small boat navigator. If plans are adhered to he and his sons, their cousin, Bobby Delano, and George K. Briggs, of Marblehead, will sail Amberjack II all the way "Down East" to Campobello Island, New Brunswick, where the Roosevelts have spent many summers.

Briggs is a good sailor, as are the other Roosevelts, sons James, John and Franklin, jr., who are expected to sail the schooner down to Marion to meet the President.

The Amberjack II herself was out from Marblehead today for a tuning-up spin, under command of her owner, Paul Rust, jr. Although she is only about 50 feet long, she is as weatherly a craft as could be asked. Rust sailed her across the Atlantic in one of the ocean races shortly after he had her built.

Rust said tonight the Amberjack II would pick up President Roosevelt somewhere on Cape Cod "later this month."

He said no definite date had been set for the cruise, so far as he knew, but that the schooner would be available when needed. His sail today was satisfactory, he added.

form Fechner that the conservation director had the authority to buy them, and to send him a letter prepared by the Budget Bureau and approved by President Roosevelt, giving Fechner the specific authority.

Gen. DeWitt's Version.

Gen. DeWitt, informing committee members that S. B. Bevier had sought unsuccessfully to sell the toilet kits to him, and that he had informed Bevier the Army bought only through competitive bids, went on to say:

"About May 15, Mr. Fechner called me on the telephone and stated that he had received instructions from Mr. Howe to purchase toilet kits from Bevier & Co.

"I advised Mr. Fechner to have nothing to do with it, but first of all to be certain the President was fully advised. Mr. Fechner said he had been ordered by the President * * *."

Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, interrupted to ask him if Fechner had said how he got the order from Mr. Roosevelt.

"He said he had received a telephone message from Mr. Howe."

To committee members, Fechner said subsequently that he ordered the kits bought from the company because he felt similar kits supplied by the Army were "inferior," and that he considered the Bevier offer "well worth considering."

Howe Letter Confirmed.

He went on to say that he was not satisfied he had the authority to make the contract, adding:

"Nobody had instructed me to make the contract. I asked Mr. Howe over the telephone whether I had authority and he said I had. I asked him to confirm it in writing and the letter from him came the next day to my office."

"Who gave you instructions to sign the contract," Black asked.

"Nobody."

DeWitt read to the committee a copy of a letter from Fechner to Secretary Dern. It began: "Complying with instructions from President Franklin D. Roosevelt," and informed Dern that Fechner had contracted for the kits. The same letter contained the notation: "I am further instructed by direction of the President" to tell the Army to stop purchasing such materials.

DeWit said he had advised Dern and Assistant Secretary of War Woodring that the purchase was wasteful and the materials unnecessary, and that Dern had telephoned President Roosevelt and had said the Chief Executive told him the matter had been turned over to the Budget Bureau.

The quartermaster general told the committee he felt the Army, through competitive bids, could supply a comparable kit for 75 cents, and one up to Army standards for 85 cents.

COBLENTZ VERDICT UNDER ADVISEMENT

Closing Arguments of Lawyers in Banker's Trial Take Several Hours.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., June 2.—Following arguments of several hours by States Attorney Walter E. Sinn, for the prosecution, and Leo Weinberg, for the defense, the trial of Emory L. Coblentz, president of the closed Central Trust Co., charged with receiving a deposit when he knew the bank was insolvent, rested today with Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Judge Arthur D. Willard, who are holding a verdict under advisement.

The trial began Monday and was facilitated by agreement on both sides, with the consent of the court, to submit the written testimony of about a dozen witnesses.

States Attorney Sinn reviewed the history of the trust company, resulting from the merger of two other banks, and asserted that the directors who has testified for the defense were "kept in the dark" regarding the business operation of the four subsidiary organizations which loaned and borrowed large sums of money from the bank and its eleven branches.

Mr. Sinn declared that the bank needed from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 to make it solvent, and that it was in such a bad way when Mr. Coblentz asked Baltimore bankers for assistance that it was not worth helping. The bulk of the shrinkage of the bank's assets is in Washington real estate, including the Wardman Park Hotel and annexes, Department of Justice building and about ten other buildings, mainly hotels and apartment houses.

Attorney Weinberg attributed the failure of the bank to a decline in Washington real estate. He said unfavorable criticism was heaped upon Mr. Coblentz as a result of being a witness in the Pitts trial in Washington and his indictment by the Federal Grand Jury, which was rejected in the business of the bank. Mr. Weinberg concluded with a dramatic reference to the loss of Mr. Coblentz's personal fortune and his efforts to save the bank.

An indictment is pending in the Frederick court against George W. Page, former banking commissioner of Maryland and receiver of the trust company, charging him with failure to perform his duties as a State official.

1 Dies, 7 Stricken By Spotted Fever

While reports of one death and seven serious attacks of Rocky Mountain spotted fever came from Mount Airy, Carroll County, Md., yesterday, Dr. V. L. Ellicott, Montgomery County health officer at Rockville, Md., issued a statement that any persons in Somerset, Md., another infected area, who wish to receive vaccination should see physicians at once. If several requests are received, the health officer will arrange to have the vaccine administered either at the school building or in the offices of the physicians.

Dr. Lewton said that he had discussed the matter with Dr. R. E. Dyer, of the National Institute of Health, and has been informed that efforts to burn brush, destroy wild animals and dipping animals in disinfectants had been found an utterly hopeless task and that the best preventive is administration of the vaccine.

The Mount Airy victims contracted the fever from the bite of ticks, according to Dr. J. Stanley Grabill, Carroll County health officer.

TAKOMA PARK BEER QUIZ TO BE JUNE 16

Judge Calls Mayor, Council and Police in Blocking Sales by Merchants.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9706 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. Telephone Shepherd 2363.

A rule to show cause why they should not be restrained from enforcing the $1,000 beer license fee recently promulgated was issued against mayor, council and police force of Takoma Park, Md., yesterday by Judge Charles W. Woodward in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, Md.

The rule, returnable June 16, was issued following filing of a suit for injunction which seeks to restrain Mayor Frederick L. Lewton, Town Councilman John R. Adams, Peter Remsen, Millward C. Taft, Arthur L. Conger, Royal G. Sherburne and C. Leonard Boyer; Town Clerk J. Wilson Dodd, and Town Policeman Earl Thomas, Albert Thomas, Frank Lane and their servants from interfering with sale of 3.2 per cent alcoholic beverages by Nick Bougades, Takoma merchant.

The injunction suit, filed by Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, of the law firm of Cissel & Whiteford, seeks to restrain the town from assessing the $1,000 fee on the grounds that it is inconsistent with chapter 219, acts of the Maryland General Assembly.

The petition states that Bougades has performed all of the legal requirements of law and has paid the State and Federal license fees required and that enforcement of the ordinance would do him an irreparable harm. He has been notified that sale without first obtaining the license from the town would be followed by his arrest.

The ordinance was adopted recently by the town council after a petition was received from residents of the town asking that the sale of beer be barred.

REVOLT AGAINST ECONOMY.

A revolt against the economy act has broken out in the Senate. Several members of that body are frantic over alleged injustices to veterans under the administration's reduced schedules of allowances, and a large majority are apparently convinced that the economy move has been carried too far. Party affiliations were almost obliterated in the successive votes by which the Senate registered its dissatisfaction with the savings which the President has sought to make.

Efforts were made to keep this subject quiet and let the administration handle it in accordance with the provisions of the economy act. But that was impossible. Terrific pressure is being applied to members of Congress. For several days the Senate has been threatening to upset or at least modify the powers which Congress so recently conferred upon President Roosevelt to revise the pensions system. Senator Robinson apparently saw that he would be unable to prevent action of some kind. He attempted to forestall a more damaging amendment by moving to limit cuts in the compensation of war-disabled veterans to 25 per cent.

The implications of this revolt are grave, indeed. The fact that President Roosevelt's wishes were entirely disregarded is not as important as the fact that Congress is threatening to emasculate the economy act within less than three months of its enactment and even before it takes effect. President Roosevelt has promised to investigate the schedule of benefits to war-disabled veterans as proclaimed by himself, and to correct any abuses or unduly severe reductions. That undertaking is now under way. But the Senate is not satisfied. Once more it is yielding to the lobbyists, not only on the point of benefits for soldiers injured in combat, but in the general drive for restoration of the old abuses.

President Roosevelt's economy act was one of the most remarkable achievements in the field of economy that the Government has ever effected. Congress set up a new system of pensions to be paid according to the disability of veterans injured in the war and according to the financial status of the Government. The entire jumble of conflicting and discriminatory pension laws was repealed. In a moment of inspiration brought on by fear of a financial collapse Congress devised a new system under which the whole troublesome question was to be taken out of politics and placed under the discretion of competent administrators.

Now Congress is threatening to destroy that achievement, and to restore the spoils system. It appears to be true that the compensation of war-disabled veterans has been cut too drastically, but that is in the process of correction. That fact gives the Senate no legitimate excuse for starting to whittle away the economy act by another series of disjointed and incongruous measures designed to benefit some particular classes of veterans. One modification of the economy act would lead to others, until this magnificent gesture in the direction of taxpayers would be completely wiped out.

The situation calls for serious reflection on the part of Congress. If any substantial part of this program of savings should be upset the program of the administration would be jeopardized. The Government could not go on issuing bonds for public works without making extensive savings to bring the budget somewhere near to balance. Much of what has already been accomplished in the move toward recovery might be wiped out by a revolt against the economy act.

FOUR-POWER DELAY.

With the tacit understanding that all differences had been ironed out and that France, Great Britain and Germany were in accord on the Italian four-power peace pact, reports from Rome intimated that Premier Mussolini was waiting, almost with pen poised in hand, at the appointed hour of 11 o'clock on the first day of June ready to sign. But, as usual, Paris desired more time for consideration, although the cabinet, the Chamber of Deputies and the Little Entente had all expressed, if not enthusiasm, at least approval.

Even Germany, which had witnessed the Mussolini revision treaty gradually transformed by France into a non-revision agreement barring war for ten years, was prepared to sign. This may be due to the philosophical conclusion of the Hitler regime that the present is no time for pressing its erstwhile strenuous demands for boundary revisions. Often accused of faulty comprehension of the psychology of foreign nationalities, even Germany has not failed to sense the prevailing sentiment regarding Nazi extremes since coming to power, and to realize that the question of treaty revision must await a more propitious time.

France obtained the approval of the pact of Rome from the junta which now directs the common policy in foreign affairs for the three nations of the Little Entente, but appears to have nettled Poland by not considering her feelings sufficiently. This in turn may have been due to inklings received in Paris that Warsaw had been flirting a bit with Berlin, even to the extent that Soviet suspicions were aroused that a trade might be under consideration involving not only a portion of the contentious corridor, but also an outlet to the Black Sea through Russian territory.

Not all European gossip emanates from Geneva; and, anyhow, France delayed the Thursday signing of the peace pact. Mussolini still hopes to proclaim the accomplished fact in time for announcement in his week-end speech in the Senate in which he will promulgate an important statement on Italy's foreign policy. The initial enthusiasm for the four-power treaty seems to have cooled materially, but the opinion appears to obtain that it will be adopted without much further delay, with the feeling generally held that in its present form it is comparatively innocuous.

HARRISON'S TAX PLAN.

Dissatisfaction with the tax program evolved by the House is evident in the Senate. A new program has been outlined by Chairman Harrison, of the Senate finance committee, and a drive is also being made for adoption of the sales tax. Revelations that J. P. Morgan and all the partners of the Morgan firm escaped payment of income taxes in 1931 and 1932 have aroused vigorous resentment against the imposition of higher taxes upon citizens of moderate means.

Senator Harrison would eliminate the higher levies upon individual incomes and pyramid the new tax burden upon corporate interests. His program includes three principal sources of revenue: A tax on dividends, $70,000,000; a capital stock tax, $80,000,000, and an increase of one-half cent in the gasoline tax, $62,000,000. In addition he anticipates an increased yield of $15,000,000 from certain administrative changes designed to impose heavier burdens upon partnerships and private bankers, such as the Morgan firm.

One commendable feature of the Harrison program is the reduction of the proposed levy on gasoline. The House fixed the additional gasoline tax at ¾ of a cent per gallon. Motorists are already paying exorbitant taxes on their fuel. Further encroachment upon this field of revenue, which was formerly reserved for the States, is difficult to justify.

The collection of dividend taxes direct from corporations would facilitate operation of this proposed levy and also would apply to dividends paid to people living abroad. If the profits of corporations are to be taxed twice there is no advantage in camouflaging the double levy by taxing dividends in the hands of stockholders.

No one can fail to recognize, however, that Senator Harrison's plan would impose a heavy burden upon the very business organizations to which the country is looking for leadership out of the depression. The whole burden of financing the public works program would be heaped upon corporate operations, which are already stagnant because of heavy losses. Corporations pay a heavy income tax, just as do individuals. Senator Harrison proposes that Congress shall add to this another sharp levy on profits or dividends, and a tax of 1-10 of 1 per cent upon the par value of corporate stocks. The last named tax is a capital levy upon industry. It is difficult to see how anything can be gained by taking this money out of the hands of private enterprise, in this period of recovery, and putting it into the hands of the Government to carry out a public works program.

Any tax program that can be devised will impose a heavy burden upon business enterprises that are struggling to get back to normal production and employment. If Congress is determined to go ahead with this gigantic public works plan, in spite of the striking recovery which the country is experiencing without any increase in governmental projects, taxes must be levied somewhere. It will tax the ingenuity of the Senate to find imposts that will not offset the benefits expected from the public works program.

THE REPEAL CAMPAIGN.

Administration efforts have now been added to those of the repealists to speed up State action in an attempt to settle the fate of the eighteenth amendment before the end of the year. As the count stands, eight States have voted, all for repeal, and as many more will hold their conventions this month. Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, figures that these sixteen States, with a population of 52,721,000, will afford a very definite indication of the result.

The States which will vote on repeal in June, in the order named, are Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Iowa, California and West Virginia. The overwhelming votes cast in favor of repeal in the States which have already registered their sentiments lead the advocates of repeal to make very positive claims regarding the favorable result of their fight against prohibition. Their victory in Delaware, a State which many claimed as antirepeal because of its vote for the Hoover ticket last fall, was particularly gratifying to the wets.

Thirty-nine States have completed legislative action for repeal elections and conventions. In all but two, Nebraska and South Dakota, it is believed that elections will take place during 1933. Definite dates have been set in only thirty-one States, but the active agents in the repeal campaign believe from their survey that six others will arrange for elections this year with the possibility of three more in which special sessions of the legislature will be called during the summer. Postmaster General Farley is lending active assistance in urging States to complete the vote this year, so that repeal may bring the additional and much needed revenue to the Treasury which would result from the excise taxes on liquor.

STATES INCREASE TAXES.

The year began with general discussion of the urgent need for administrative economy in national and State government to the end that taxes might be lightened. Before it is half over it is evident that hopes in this direction are vain. Reductions in fixed expenditures in most instances have been more than offset by the insistent need of increased relief appropriations. Revenues from beer and possible future returns from hard liquor, from which tax relief was expected, are now only seen to be only a promising abatement of taxes that are now being added.

Forty-five State Legislatures have been in session this year. Thirty-five of them increased taxes, either by adding new levies or increasing old ones. These new taxes will amount to at least $250,000,000. The Federal Government is seeking almost as much in additional taxation to service the single item of its public works program. The Spartan efforts which the administration is making to cut expenditures has in few instances been matched by State efforts in that direction. Federal savings are being nullified, not by increased demands for strictly Federal expenditures, but by appropriations destined to relieve the States.

Laudable warnings are being given by the administrators of State benefits that local efforts in their own behalf must not be relaxed because the national Treasury is preparing to lend assistance. This caution must needs be constantly repeated to avoid the natural tendency to relinquish responsibility to Federal authority whenever possible. On the other hand too many States are increasing taxes instead of making drastic cuts in their budgets. Twenty States now impose income taxes, three having levied upon gross incomes. Twenty-one States have imposed taxes on beer and wine. Six States have adopted taxes on retail sales.

The various other sources from which additional revenue is sought by the States include new taxes on foreign securities, oleomargarine made from imported oils, stores and chain stores, building and loan companies, banks, intangibles, race betting, corporations, telephones, oil, gasoline, gross insurance, inheritances, cigarettes, gross receipts of power companies and pipe lines. The growing evil of duplication of taxes by State and Federal authority begins to be felt more severely. And to direct taxes must soon be added the indirect charges that will be added to many farm products through the processing levies destined to benefit producers of the raw materials.

It is evident that the campaign for economy and lower taxes has not been won. Once relieved of the emergency relief measures which assume a large measure of State responsibility, the Federal budget will show a balance which will put the lesser governmental organizations to shame, not through increased income, but through economies effected.

If Morgan & Co. could make $1,000,000 while the market was crashing and yet escape paying income taxes, who says it is not a great banking house?

The economy bill could have effected a saving of $400,000,000 without injustice to veterans, but Congress is gradually slipping it back to the boys.

By the time the American delegation arrives in London Ambassadors Bingham and Davis will have the situation well jumbled.

THE FEARS OF BUSINESS

From the Kansas City Star.

Business men are asking: "How can we plan for the future, make commitments and contracts, when there is so much uncertainty as to what government itself is going to do? How are we to gauge measures affecting management, employment and money?"

It is true that difficult problems are being presented to business interests of all classifications at this time. The Government apparently is departing from traditions and functions of the past and entering new and untried fields of reformation and regulation at a bewildering rate. It is not easy thoroughly to digest and understand proposed legislation before it is adopted and operates as law.

Perhaps the pace is too fast. Perhaps deeper consideration and clearer comprehension of the measures would result in greater benefit. Yet we are passing through a crisis, and the cry has been for action and leadership. President Roosevelt has responded to this cry with far-reaching proposals, and if there is apprehension over the eventual outcome, there also is a factor of safety in that the extraordinary powers granted to the Chief Executive are discretionary. He can go as little or as far as he chooses. Business in general may be assured, however, that it is the President's evident policy not to disturb too greatly the normal processes of trade and industry. Mr. Roosevelt has pledged that he will act promptly to rectify mistakes of policy.

The chief danger, perhaps, lies in a tendency to expect decrees of government to accomplish the rescue alone and in a "what's the use" attitude in the face of governmental interference where none is justified. If the situation has any moral it is that what has happened can be traced back, in great part, to the habitual indifference of the average business man to the conduct of government in all its branches, to unethical and—to speak plainly—dishonest practices by big corporations, financial institutions and political subdivisions.

Any reform, to be effective and lasting, must begin with a clearing away of many traditional ideas, both in politics and business. It will, if properly applied, affect what is known as "big business" more than it will the little fellow, who has been struggling along in an honest manner. At the same time the new administration owes it to the country to make a clear explanation of the steps proposed and to determine its policy with as little delay as possible.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

PURPOSE.

We plague ourselves with endless needs.
We build our hopes and dreams on things;
We seek in muscle-straining deeds
A satisfaction prowess brings.
In pomp and pride
The world we stride
And call it failure to be meek,
While day by day
Along life's way
Are countless joys we need not seek.
So thick with wants we've sown our years
That few of us brief rest can find.
In running first success appears.
'Tis failure grim to lag behind.
Yet life is sweet
And all complete
For those who dare a slower pace,
While rest at night
And true delight
Lend beauty to the commonplace.
Who knows what God shall deem success?
Great wealth and fame and buildings tall
To which men turn for happiness
May not suit His design at all.
And it may be
That we shall see,
When time and toil on earth are through,
The will to share
Life's common care
Is all God wished from me and you.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.
By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: A certain wise man, seeing a drunken bum across the street, said to himself, "There, but for the grace of God, go I."

Perhaps you have heard that many times. If you can understand and believe it, you never will be guilty of silly intolerance or cruel injustice.

The beginning of decent humility is the ability to recognize our own faults. We see them, perhaps, but we regard them as virtues. Just as we mispronounce a word time after time in the complacent belief that our pronunciation is correct, so we cling to a fault all our days because we can't recognize it as a fault.

Yesterday I saw an item from the London Times that should be treasured as a classic. The writer had heard that the interest on American bonds, many of which were held by Europeans, would not be paid in gold. And he moralized about it somewhat as follows: "If America fails to meet her sacred obligations, she will set a dangerous example for Europe."

He overlooked the fact that Europe had been setting that example for ten years.

Some years ago I knew two men of opposite types, both outspoken and arrogant, who frankly despised each other.

The younger man drank too much and spiced his speech with profanity, but was rigidly honest in business. The other was a churchman free of the common vices, but his word was worthless and nobody ever trusted him twice.

Yet each man held his head high, seeing no fault in himself, and the drunkard felt superior to the crook as the crook felt superior to the drunkard.

Find a self-righteous critic whose chief delight is to expose the faults of others and nine times in ten she has a mind so unclean and so filled with envy and malice that she is incapable of a generous thought.

The criticism you hear isn't the condemnation of the wicked by the good. It is the pot calling the kettle black. Almost invariably the critic who condemns the faults of others has equal faults of some other kind.

You will be tempted many times to condemn some one whose sins have been exposed. Before you do it, ask yourself whether you would speak so boldly if the world knew every secret act of your life.

Hate wrong wherever you see it, my dear, but condemn nobody until you have qualified to throw the first stone. Love, DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

The Income Tax Scandal.
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

While the salaried and professional classes see their income taxes going up approximately one-fourth, the country is being shown by the investigations at Washington how people at the top get out of paying any income taxes at all.

Is it any wonder that the Federal Treasury has a deficit when J. P. Morgan and his 19 partners paid no income taxes in 1931 and 1932, or when Charles E. Mitchell, former president of the National City Bank, paid no taxes in 1930 and 1931? It is for the Government to determine how far the deductions taken in such cases are within the law. It is now attempting to establish that what Mitchell did was not within the law: the Morgan deductions are of course of a totally different sort.

While the Government is clearing up these points, the people can not help feeling that there is a grave injustice in spreading the base of the income tax, increasing the rates in the middle brackets and putting corporate dividends in the same class with all other income. These amendments to the income tax law work a terrific hardship upon doctors, educators, lawyers, executives. They are a disquieting prospect to all those who carry one of the principal burdens of society and whose reaction to all that is coming out at Washington must be that they are paying more than their share.

Time for Plain Speech.
New York Times.

Viscount Ishii, who has been conferring with Mr. Roosevelt, is profoundly impressed by the candor, the sincerity and the generosity of the President. The country will hope that Mr. Roosevelt was at least as candid with the Japanese representatives as he was generous.

How About the Next Loan?
Windom (Minn.) Reporter.

This moratorium on mortgage foreclosures may be a good thing just now for us fellows who want to save our farms, and it is no more than fair, considering the fact that to pay an old mortgage now requires more than three times as much of our produce as when the mortgage was incurred. But where are we going to be at when we want to borrow again?

The Menace of Pork.
Topeka Capital.

To escape the degeneration of the $3,300,000,000 public works scheme into a gigantic pork barrel will be a test of the Government. Sectional interests will be opposed. Every community will want its share. The President, fortunately, has full power in handling this program, but the pressure he must contend against will be unparalleled. Plans of engineers must be followed, since there can be no plan devised by politicians that will not wreck the program.

The Upward Spiral.
Kansas City Star.

If the present brisk demand for commodities that has boosted prices should prove merely speculative, and the commodities should not be used, then some day the buyers will start to unload and prices will fall.

In order to guard against such a collapse the administration is trying to get its gigantic public works plan under way so as to stimulate business and make sure that the commodities pass into use. Meanwhile it is cautious about using inflationary powers. If inflation is to be more than a shot in the arm, its advance in prices must be so moderate that they can be sustained until business catches up with them and then proceeds through its own momentum on the upward spiral out of the morass.

THE ONCE OVER
By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE WELL-INFORMED MAN.

He doesn't know what murals are
And thinks Riviera is a place;
He can not name a single star
And says he "once met Chevy Chase;"
He's very dull at parlor games—
His reasoning is very queer,
But he can tell you all the names
They're using now for lager beer!

II.

On economics he is dumb,
And can not follow all he reads;
When statements from the White House come
A diagram is what he needs.
On music he can never chat—
He can't discuss a current play,
But he can tell right off the bat
The beers marketed today!

III.

Philosophy is Greek to him—
He doesn't know who Einstein is;
On art his mind is very dim—
He never passed a mental quiz.
Opinions on the slump he'll shun—
No gems of wit can he unfold,
But he can name you, one by one,
The many kinds of beer sold!

IV.

He thinks Mahomet was a horse
And that velocipedes are bugs;
He never heard of Bell or Morse
And thinks a humidor's a mug;
To him the Magna Charta's news—
He thinks the Rubicon's a snake,
But he can name you all the brews
That all the native brewers make!

V.

His ignorance is most complete
On all the things that matter much;
He thinks that Sherman sank a fleet
And that Demosthenes was Dutch.
He never heard of Crane or Weir,
Or others in the world of art,
But, boy, when some one mentions beer
He knows the labels all by heart!

AND WITHOUT AN ANESTHETIC.

Mr. Jesse Jones, chairman of the R. F. C., says no more loans will be extended to corporations until they cut all high salaries, those of $100,000 or more being slashed 60 per cent. As one of our best dressed railroad executives exclaimed today, "That's not a cut, it's a major operation."

We know a high-salaried man, by the way, who gave up his hobby, a big poultry farm, because during the last year the chickens' constant "cut-cut-cut-cadahcut" got on his nerves.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Motorist Wants All Circles Abolished as Obstacles to Traffic—Can't Live on Beauty.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now comes Dr. Charles Moore, chairman of the Commission of Fine Arts, to object to running a street through Thomas Circle to facilitate traffic. What has the Fine Arts Commission to do with traffic? The circles are obstacles to motorists and hold up traffic. Dr. Moore suggests that if Thomas Circle is cut in two there will be wholesale "desecration" of the "beauty" of the city and mutilation of L'Enfant's plan.

We can't afford beauty at the expense of business. The people must live, and to live they must hustle. Washington is the slowest traffic town in the country, held back by old fogy ideas of "beauty." We can't live on moss and old trees. The widening of the streets was opposed by beauty lovers who wanted scraggly old trees undisturbed, but now they see they were wrong.

All circles should be abolished. Parking space should be provided in some of the empty public parks. There are too many waste places that could be used for storing cars. Give us a chance to live. MOTORIST.

Driving Fast on Slippery Pavements Shows Childish Mentality.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It didn't worry me much when I read the headline, "16 Persons Injured and Youth Is Killed," over The Post's account of Memorial Day traffic accidents. Like the rest of the public I have become toughened to mention of automobile killings and broken bones. But it makes me think these brain specialists may be right who say that the majority of adults have no more than the intelligence of 14-year-olds.

Otherwise how does it happen that motorists drive just as fast over "wet slippery highways" like those of May 30 as they do when the sun shines and the roads are dry and unslippery. O. P. ABBE.

RAILROAD BILL SURE OF HOUSE PASSAGE

Eastman Called Choice of President for Post of Coordinator.

(Associated Press.)

The threat of opposition to the administration railroad bill faded in the House yesterday and the measure moved toward certain passage while word spread that Joseph B. Eastman would be the railroad coordinator.

In this capacity, Eastman, who has been a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission for ten years, would direct the effort to bring the railroad industry to a paying basis.

Eastman is credited by commission officials with knowing as much about the railroad situation as any man in the country. In the past he has differed frequently with the opinions of his colleagues.

The measure provides that in the event of an appointment of an Interstate Commerce Commissioner to fill the post he may return to the Interstate Commerce Commission at the end of his year of service. However, the President is authorized to continue the coordinator for a second year by proclamation.

Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, former president of the University of Texas and House interstate commerce transportation expert, was spoken of as having been definitely chosen to take Eastman's place on the commission after he completes an investigation of public utility holding companies.

The Meanderer

Lists Fresh Foods Available for Week-end; Unusual Linens and Dishes.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4366, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Blackberries are among the best of the fresh fruits for week-end menus. They are arriving in Washington from North Carolina and retailing at two boxes for 25 cents. A chain store manager recommends blackberries more highly than strawberries today. However, early next week should see the peak of the season for the strawberries from nearby fields, when prices should be as low as at any time this year. And again the Meanderer would remind you of the bulletin, "How to Make the Most of Strawberries," offered to readers of The Washington Post through Ann Barrett, special food writer. Directions for acquiring such leaflets are given accompanying the Ann Barrett special food feature in today's Washington Post.

Canteloupes have descended from their high prices of the last several weeks to sell at two for 25 cents in chain stores.

Subtropical fruits coming from lower Florida are known as Hayden mangoes. They are regarded as a salad delicacy or are used as fruit. The mangoes the Meanderer found in a wholesaler's stand in the Southwest Market were larger than the average avocado. The first of such fruits introduced in Washington some years ago were small, the wholesaler said, not larger than an egg. But special development has enlarged the mangoes and eliminated a fibrous texture noticeable in the first of the fruits. In retail stands the fruits sell for 40 cents each.

California oranges are supplanting Florida oranges on the local market. Buyers are choosing the fresh Californias rather than the last of the Florida crop, which has been on the local market for a number of weeks.

Cans of vegetable soup, size No. 2, are larger sizes than the housewife has found available heretofore. Always it has been necessary to use more than one can of the soup for a family meal, but the new 10-cent size will probably make it necessary to use only one can.

New white turnips, 3 cents a bunch; California peas, three pounds for 22 cents; tender new beets, 5 cents a bunch; head lettuce and a 10-cent size French dressing offered together for 21 cents; and frying chickens at 28 cents a pound are among the Sunday dinner menu suggestions of a chain store manager the Meanderer consults regularly.

Yellow pottery dishes in open stock are finding buyers in a Connecticut avenue shop. The 20 per cent discount now offered by the shop on all its merchandise in a special June sale will give the pottery dishes a price that is not prohibitive.

A seller of wines in a well known grocery on Fourteenth street has received some authoritative information on classification and serving of wines, which he is willing to share with those who come to the shop. The literature he has received on wine is not available for distribution.

South American handwork on Italian linen is an effective combination the Meanderer discovered in a Connecticut avenue shop.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

SPINACH CULT GETS BOOST FROM NEW COOKING TRICKS

By ANN BARRETT

JOKING aside, a lot of folks are saying yes to spinach these days. Spinach chopped and creamed, as banker Vanderlip likes it. Or served in a souffle with mushroom sauce, as actress Dorothy Gish likes it. Or in eggs Florentine—a dish that gives radio humorist Jack Benny an eating kick.

Follow any of these good dishes back to the kitchen, and you'll find they owe a good share of their success to three points. First, careful washing of the spinach (use warm water, letting sand settle each time before lifting spinach out to another pan). Second, to cooking in just a small amount of water (½ cup to 1 pound) just till tender; or in no water at all (use heavy pan, cover it tightly and start over slow fire).

Seasoning Very Important.

Third, to seasonings such as butter, olive oil, cream, thin cream sauce, grated onion, bits of fried ham or bacon. Let the spinach stand on back of the stove with these seasonings ten minutes or so for the finest flavor.

Some people like their spinach to be still more thoroughly seasoned by cooking an onion or section of garlic with it, then removing this. Others (the French particularly) like a grating of nutmeg over cooked spinach. Or a grating of fresh lemon rind. In fact, lemon suits spinach so well it is often served with spinach (cut in quarters) to be juiced over the vegetable at table.

Spinich Souffle.

For spinach in the role of a de luxe luncheon dish, here it is in a souffle with mushroom sauce. Like this: First chop 2 cups cooked, seasoned spinach and rub it through a coarse sieve. Then blend 4 tablespoons flour into 4 tablespoons melted butter, slowly add 1 cup milk, season with ¼ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and cook thick. Add spinach and cool till lukewarm. Then add 3 egg yolks beaten thick. Next fold in 3 egg whites beaten stiff. Turn into buttered baking dish and bake in moderate oven (350—not one speck hotter) till firm. About 25 minutes. Serve in dish at once. Souffle must not wait.

For the sauce, first cook ½ pound chopped mushrooms gently in 2 table spoons butter. Add 2 cups milk. When this is hot add 2 tablespoons flour (blended smooth in 1 tablespoon melted butter). Cook till thick and smooth.

Eggs Florentine.

Another good luncheon dish—eggs Florentine—links up spinach, eggs and cheese like this: First chop 2 cups cooked, seasoned spinach just enough to cut up large leaves. Then make white sauce of 2 tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, ¾ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. When this is smooth, melt ½ cup grated cheese in it, but do not let sauce boil. Next put spinach in greased shallow baking dish, and pour cheese sauce over. Then with a spoon make 4 dents or hollows in spinach and drop a raw egg into each hollow. Season eggs slightly and put dish in 350 oven till eggs are cooked—7 or 8 minutes.

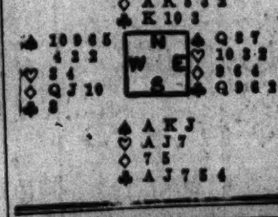
BIDDING A GRAND SLAM.

THERE is no doubt in my mind at all that the introduction and general use of the Four-Five Notrump Convention has eliminated the element of luck from the making of such bids. Slam premiums are the rewards for one of the finest of all human qualities—namely, precision of thought—and the use of this convention certainly tends strongly toward the conveying of precise information in a precise and definite way, making unnecessary the reaching of Slams by trial and error, so common with players who do not use such an accurate system.

Here, for instance, is a hand in which a Grand Slam can be accurately and safely bid, but not without the use of the Four-Five Notrump Convention, or, at least, not with the accuracy that can be assured by these most informative bids. It was played in a Duplicate game in which there were a number of players who had not yet familiarized themselves with the latest in Slam-bidding methods. These players failed to reach the ultimate goal—the Grand Slam—that was easily achievable. In fact, one pair stopped at four hearts. Others, using methods that lacked precision, went as far as six, but the only ones who reached the Grand Slam were those who used the Four-Five Notrump Convention.

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The bidding: (Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	2♡(1)	Pass
3♡(2)	Pass	4◇(3)	Pass
4NT(4)	Pass	5NT(5)	Pass
7♡(6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Obviously, a sound Forcing Takeout. The hand contains 8½ honor-tricks and a fit with partner's suit.

2—A deliberate underbid with the purpose in mind of learning whether North has anything further to say below the level of game. The bid is perfectly safe, as North can not pass.

3—Disclosing a second biddable suit.

4—South knows the hands contain a minimum of 7½ honor-tricks. Obviously, in order to have 8½ honor-tricks to justify a Forcing Takeout, North must hold the club King. Hence the trip down the Slam trail.

5—Not strictly conventional, but North has three Kings—in fact, the Kings of all the suits bid by North and South. Hence South's four-notrump bid must show three Aces.

6—There is no need to temporize further. The Grand Slam is a certainty, barring the most unfortunate distribution, a factor which card players know can not be entirely guarded against.

NEW POTATO RECIPE WINS POST'S AWARD

Mrs. M. L. Daly Submits Interesting Method of Preparing "Spuds."

An interestingly new way to prepare potatoes took the $5 prize in The Post's weekly recipe contest. It was submitted by Mrs. M. L. Daly, of 1830 K street northwest.

The recipe follows:

Potatoes With Cheese.

2 teaspoons butter
2 teaspoons grated cheese
2 teaspoons flour
Salt and pepper
6 small potatoes, cooked and sliced
1½ cups milk
1 chopped sweet pepper
English walnut meats.

Melt the butter in a saucepan and add grated cheese. When cheese is partly melted add the flour and seasonings. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly, until thoroughly blended. Into an oiled baking dish put a layer of potatoes and sprinkle with the sweet pepper. Continue alternating potato and pepper until the dish is full. Pour over this the cheese sauce, sprinkle with chopped walnut meats and bits of butter. Put into a hot oven and bake until nicely browned. This amount serves six people. All the ingredients may be purchased at Sanitary stores.

411 Midshipmen Sail on Wyoming

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 2.—Four hundred and eleven Midshipmen, representing half the complement of the new first and third classes, embarked early today on the battleship Wyoming for the first of the summer practice cruises. Within a few hours the Wyoming got under way with Funchal, Madeira Islands, as her destination. The return trip will be made by way of the North Atlantic, arriving at Annapolis the latter part of July. On August 1, the Wyoming will sail with the rest of the two classes on a similar journey.

Members of the second class will remain at the academy during the greater part of the summer for intensive instruction in aeronautics, engineering and other branches.

Meanwhile, officials of the academy are making preparations to recruit the new fourth class, as the result of mental examinations held last April and February. Candidates who qualified in these tests and are entitled to appointment, will be examined physically at the academy only. A naval examining board will be detailed for this purpose.

"INTERNATIONAL HOUSE." Paramount presentation of a story by Neil Brant and Lou Heifetz, featuring Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Burns & Allen, Stuart Erwin, Sari Maritza, Rudy Vallee, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and band, and Baby Rose Marie. Directed by Edward Sutherland. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

It was no doubt in perpetuation of the legend that it is at about this time of the year that the "silly season" comes around that Paramount released this richly embellished bit of tomfoolery.

"International House" really ought to be a prime contest picture. First award, of course, to go to the individual who can make any sense out of it!

There does, I believe, purport to be some sort of sketchy narrative connected with the goings-on—something to do with an international scramble for the rights to a variation of the television idea, known as the radioscope, which the good Chinese Doctor Wong has perfected to a point where it will hardly ever work—but in the large view it is nothing more nor less than a pretty swell vaudeville show that is revealed upon the screen. A vaudeville show peopled by many of the most expert clowns we have; past masters of ribald, risque and riotous comedy. It is no story, but it is very elegant entertainment—a little soiled now and again, but in the main funny, very funny.

The whole gay business takes place in Wu-Hu, China, where Peggy Hopkins Joyce and Stuart Erwin arrive by Buick, W. C. Fields in an autogyro, after having had a tough time trying to hop from Kansas City, Kans., to Kansas City, Mo. That will give you a rough idea!

The good Doctor Wong, in demonstrating his radioscope, is always going to show the enthusiastic observer and potential bidder for the rights to the invention a six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden, New York. What he gets, however, each in turn, is Rudy Vallee singing a love song to his megaphone; Col. Stoopnagle and Budd in some of their jocosities; Cab Calloway and His Band of Harlemaniacs; Baby Rose Marie, accompanied by two pianos—or some similar six-day bike race!

Finally, the Doctor does get Madison Square Garden, just in time to hear the announcer say, "Ladies and gentlemen, you have just heard the finish of the six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden. Good night!"

In the meantime, Mr. Fields has been joy-riding around through the hotel in his Austin and wandering in and out of Miss Joyce's sleeping apartment; Gracie Allen and George Burns have outdone themselves as the hotel physician and his nurse assistant; Stuart Erwin has tried to convince Sari Maritza that she is all wrong about Peggy, and that it isn't the prospect of marrying her that brings him down with some infantile disease every time he attempts it; Franklin Pangborn, as the hotel manager, has had a very apoplectic time of it and the Calliphane Girls have probably knocked your eye out!

If all this doesn't seem quite sane, that's just dandy, because neither does the picture!

Adding to the hilarity of the bill is one of Walt Disney's "Silly Symphonies," "Three Little Pigs," executed in Technicolor, and a ZaSu Pitts-Thelma Todd comedy, "The Bargain of the Century."

The Metrotone News and James A. Fitzpatrick's "Daughters of the Sea," meaning the Scandinavian countries, add a slightly more serious note to a bill that was made to order for laughter.

W. C. Fields, Burns and Allen and Peggy Hopkins Joyce's clothes and figure are worth the price of admission—everything else you get out of it is pure profit. Well, maybe not too pure!

RKO-KEITH'S

"COCKTAIL HOUR." Columbia Pictures dramatization of a screen play by Gertrude Purcell and Richard L. Schayer, starring Bebe Daniels, with Randolph Scott, Muriel Kirkland, Sidney Blackmer and Barry Norton. Directed by Victor Schertzinger. Reviewed Friday afternoon by Isabel Harraman.

"Cocktail Hour" is as stimulating and exciting a bit of luxurious entertainment as its name implies.

It brings to us the not-seen-so-frequently-of-late Mrs. Ben Lyon (Bebe Daniels, to you), at her independent and insouciant best—which is very good, indeed.

True, she never quite reaches the glamorous heights of her charming characterization in "Rio Rita," and her voice, which registered so beautifully in that extravaganza, has woefully deteriorated, if the one song she attempts in "Cocktail Hour" is a fair sample. But her portrayal of Cynthia Warren, who reaches the highest point of arrant dilettanteism, only to discover that the game is not worth the candle, is a clever and dramatic piece of acting.

There is nothing particularly new in the story of a successful and talented young artist who enjoys her Bohemian life and her gay independence. There are the usual number of men in love with her, including the inevitable Strong Silent Man who eschews cocktail hours and all that they imply. Randolph Scott, as Randy Morgan, makes this part both endurable and believeable. Barry Norton is Philippe, the Boyish Lover, and Sidney Blackner is Lawton, the Gay Philanderer. Outside of these stereotyped old faithfuls there are really some clever situations and some delightful comedy scenes.

Muriel Kirkland, as the Kansas girl who makes herself into a Russian pianist, almost steals the picture. There is a splendid supporting cast which includes Jessie Ralph, Phillips Smalley, Marjorie Gateson and George Mardelli.

Of course, no one is ever in doubt as to the outcome of the picture. Cynthia will marry her Randy and they will live happily ever after, and even such slight impediments as an affair with a married man and an attempted murder in her hotel room can not deter the course of true love.

You'll like "Cocktail Hour." It will make you forget all about that piece that's missing out of your jigsaw puzzle.

Don't forget to stay for the Krazy Kat Cartoon, "Broadway Malady." It gives you a rough idea of subway life in New York, where they put 'em in with a shoehorn and take 'em out with a can-opener. There is also a Pathe News and some attractive scenic views of Hawaii made into a small story entitled "Hula."

As an added attraction, and by special arrangement with the British racing authorities, RKO-Keith's is presenting first-run pictures from Aintree, England, of the recent and most important steeplechase in the world. If you are a devotee of the racing game, these pictures will give you a vicarious thrill, at least.

METROPOLITAN

"MURDERS IN THE ZOO." Paramount dramatization of a story by Philip Wylie and Seton I. Miller, featuring Lionel Atwill, Kathleen Burke, Charles Ruggles, Gail Patrick, Randolph Scott and Harry Beresford. Directed by Edward Sutherland. Reviewed Friday morning.

There is to be found here a faint echo of Mr. Lasky's distinguished and eminently successful "Zoo in Budapest," with horror substituted for romance.

The title, "Murders in the Zoo," is admirably explanatory, as far as it goes. The fact of the matter is, however, that Eric Gorman, millionaire big-game hunter and "bring-'em-back-alive" expert—that is to say as far as the animals are concerned—began killing off his "friends" out in the jungles of Malay long before the zoo was ever reached. His first victim he turned loose for the tigers to devour after having stitched up his mouth as a meager penalty for having tried to kiss Mrs. Gorman and then having died about it.

Mrs. Gorman's next surreptitious suitor, her husband dispatched at a publicity dinner party, spread in the zoo, through the hideous instrument of the severed head of a poisonous mamba snake. His wife, when she was about to expose his murderous achievements, he tossed to the crocodiles. They found scraps of her gown floating in the zoo pond next day.

The young bio-chemist, who is beginning to suspect, he attempts to slay in the same manner as Hewitt, the dinner party victim, but young Dr. Woodford has perfected a serum for the mamba poison with which his sweetheart saves his life.

Trapped thus by his own homicidal enthusiasms, Gorman opens all the cages and frees the wild animals to facilitate his own escape. In a moment of incautiousness he backs into the boa-constrictor's cage to evade momentary danger. The last we see of him he is being crushed to death with complete and magnificent efficiency in the tightening coils of the giant reptile.

Such is the terrifying fable expounded in this frankly chills-and-gooseflesh melodrama. The only element of relief from the mortuary developments of the story is supplied by Charlie Ruggles as the zoo press agent, with an abiding fear of everything he is hired to promote. Mr. Ruggles at times is exceedingly amusing. At others he seems to be trying just a bit too hard to be exceedingly amusing to be so.

Lionel Atwill, an accomplished actor of macabre roles, is an ominous and deadly Gorman, with a fine relish for the spectacle of expiring lives. Kathleen Burke, the erstwhile "tiger woman," still looks a little that way, but comports herself with some impressiveness, at that. Gail Patrick, however, as the betrothed of Randolph Scott, as the young doctor, achieves the feminine hit of the picture, from the viewpoint of naturalistic and believable performance. Numerous others contribute to the generally satisfactory support — including a large number of seemingly ferocious specimens of caged beasts and venomous reptiles.

The more cheerful auxiliary attractions include Waring's Pennsylvanians in a clever Vitaphone short, "Alma Martyr;" Marjorie Beebe and Joyce Compton in a Sennett comedy, "Knockout Kisses," and an interesting Paramount Sound News.

LOEW'S FOX

"MADE ON BROADWAY." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of Courtenay Terrett's story, "Public Relations," starring Robert Montgomery and Sally Eilers, supported by Madge Evans, Joseph Crawthorn, Eugene Pallette and Ivan Lebedeff. Directed by Harry Beaumont. Reviewed Friday night by Dorothea Lewis.

This little feature picture suffers from the same complaint as its leading character—a considerable touch of egotism.

Young Mr. Jerry Bidwell is Manhattan's greatest fixer. He fixes politics, reputations, businesses, hearts, all for stupendous fees matched only by his conceit.

Having had the bitter experience of marrying and being divorced by a very charming wife who didn't believe him the sun, moon and stars, he sets out to "create" a girl of just the proper measure of adoration, dumbness and gratitude. So-o-o-o. Mr. Bidwell comes a cropper which includes scandal, murder, a trial and a general state of fed-up-ness.

All this being written in an extremely light, but not too amusing vein, it is played in proper farcical tempo, and rather better than it deserves, by Robert Montgomery, as Bidwell; Madge Evans, as Mrs. Bidwell, and particularly by Sally Eilers, as Jerry's creation.

Montgomery can be more smart-alecky than any other young man on the screen and he is, therefore, right at home as Jerry, though his incisive crispness in speaking lines succeeds in vividly exposing the particular lack of wit in these particular lines.

Sally Eilers, looking startlingly like Mary Pickford at times, plays her role right up to the hilt, temper and temperament plus some especially praiseworthy intentional bad acting.

Having attempted to diagnose the ills of the screen entertainment, we turn our gaze upon the stage and find "Whoopee" suffering from overindulgence. It really must be awfully difficult to make whoopee four times a day, even if it's slightly condensed whoopee, and the poor tuckered-out performers walk rather than prance and plug through their paces.

This, the fifth condensed musical to be presented here if our statistics are O K, benefits by a better book than the others. It has little Bobbe Arnst, cute and conscientiously putting something into it, and being practically alone in that; a nice enough voice for the "Red, Red Rose" number in the person of Wonenis, and extra special costuming and staging. Even the calf and some not too perky horses are here,—remember? Buddy Doyle does the Cantor role.

One of the most amusing portions of the entire program this week is a Walter Catlett comedy, "Dream Stuff." The newsreel completes the bill.

EARLE

"THE LIFE OF JIMMY DOLAN." Warner Brothers' picturization of a play by Bertram Mathaser and Beulah Marie Dix; starring Douglas Fairbanks, jr., with Loretta Young, Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee and Fifi Dorsay. Directed by Archie Mayo. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Douglas Fairbanks, jr., comes through again with another smooth performance, which goes further to enhance his claim as the screen's leading young actor. Together with a good story, a worthy supporting cast and an able director, he depicts "The Life of Jimmy Dolan" to perfection.

Jimmy Dolan, it seems, is a pugilist with a mighty left which strikes a lethal blow when a somewhat nosey reporter horns in on Jimmy's party following the winning of the world's light-heavyweight championship. During the events that follow Jimmy passes out and his manager takes him to the training camp and proceeds to run off with the fighter's girl and other valuables. Drunk, said manager crashes the auto and in the resultant holocaust he and the girl are cremated.

Preferring to be, like Nanki-Poo, a disembodied spirit, Jimmy leaves town and finally lands on a Utah ranch devoted to the cure of infantile paralysis. He soon falls in love with the owner's niece, and finally, in order to raise the $2,000 to lift the mortgage, Jimmy melodramatically goes four rounds with the champeen heavyweight. Meanwhile, he has been tentatively identified as his real self, but the would-be arresting officer "decides" he has been mistaken, and everybody is happy.

It is, obviously, a story quite to Mr. Fairbanks' measure, and with the help of the director and the cameraman, he stages the swellest, most exciting climacteric fistic battle that has been set before a camera. Back with the star is Loretta Young, who, with Aline MacMahon (with an assumed Scotch burr), runs the ranch. As the aging detective, who lost his nerve through convicting the wrong man, Guy Kibbee does another swell job.

Among the others presenting commendable performances are Arthur Hohl, Lyle Talbot, Fifi Dorsay, Shirley Grey and George Meeker.

Headlining the stage bill, introduced by Maxine Doyle, outfitted in another lot of summer frocks, are the Rimacs and their Havana Orchestra, with Charlie Boy cutting up all over the stage and Senorita Carito doing a rhumba caliente that sure is plenty boiling.

The bill is opened with a couple of monkeys doing stunts not out of the ordinary. Lillian Shade, with Phil Ellis at the piano, received a generous round of applause with her singing of "Stormy Weather" and "Waiting for the 'Robert E. Lee.'" The Berry Bros. colored soft-shoe dancers, strut their stuff in the manner of their kind. And how they strut!

The screen fare also provides number one of a series on "How to Break 90," with Bobby Jones in this opening issue demonstrating "The Grip," abetted by Joe E. Brown. A release of the Universal News completes the line-up.

But, Mr. Jones, can it be done on nine holes, too?

Christian Science Churches

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all the churches of Christ Scientist tomorrow. The golden text is from Revelation, 15:3: "Great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, bless ye the Lord, all ye servants of the Lord, which by night stand in the house of the Lord. Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the Lord. The Lord that made heaven and earth bless thee out of Zion." (Psalms, 134:1-3.) The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Creator, Spirit, mind, intelligence; the animating divine principle of all that is real and good; self-existent life, truth and love; that which is perfect and eternal; the opposite of matter and evil, which have no principal; God, who made all that was made and could not create an atom or an element the opposite of Himself." (Page 583.)

Stocks Lead Commodities In Race to Higher Ground

Buying Nears Stampede as Turnover Piles Up to 6,862,660 Shares.

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—Securities struck a strong stride in today's markets, outstepping the commodities by a wide margin.

Wall Street's imagination appeared to have been fired not only by trade improvement but by the Federal Reserve System's credit expansion efforts, and the rush to buy stocks developed almost into a stampede at times. Net gains for active leaders ranged from about 1 to 10 points and volume swooped up to 6,862,660 shares.

The closing composite for 90 stocks stood at 30.4, up 3.1 points net, and another new high since November, 1931. Bonds were especially strong.

Grains rallied from early heaviness but made rather hard work of the rise and were little changed on the day. Cotton was somewhat backward, though it finished with small gains.

Utilities in Lead.

In shares, utilities took their turn at leadership and gave a good account of themselves. Rate uncertainties and recent declines in earnings have made them less favored than either rails or industrials, but the current improvement in power output no doubt caused traders to feel that they merited attention. Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, American Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey and Western Union raced up 3 to nearly 6 points.

Allied Chemical, some of whose larger stockholders have organized a committee to effect changes in the management, was a sturdy gainer, up to 10%; so was Homestake which hopped up 20 points in another general advance by the gold shares. Most industrials were content with an appreciation of 1 to 3 points, while rails found themselves in the same range. Metals were quiet, doubtless because no change was made in copper quotations; oils also tended to drift. U. S. Steel common set a new high at 34¼, and closed near the best, up 1½.

American Can, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, Sears Roebuck, General Electric, Westinghouse, Bethlehem and Corn Products were up 1 to 2.

Credit Drive Impresses.

The financial community appears to be much more impressed by the current credit drive of the reserve banks than by their earlier attempts. One reason for this confidence, bankers point out, is that prices are now rising, whereas the last campaign was conducted before deflation had been completed. Furthermore, the Government has announced its intention of keeping commodities on the upgrade until a satisfactory level is reached.

Word that a German debt moratorium declaration might be expected next week was received before markets closed, finding Reich loans strong; they finished not far from their highs. Hope was expressed that some means of averting a "debt holiday" could be found, though Dr. Schacht said definitely that the Reichsbank could not permit further depletion of its gold and foreign exchange reserves.

The movement of goods into consumption provides an encouraging sign of the times. Retail trade is expanding and in some instances is running ahead of a year ago, receiving impetus, of course, from larger employment and from numerous wage increases. "The course for continued trade progress," says Dun & Bradstreet, "has been cleared as more of the extraneous influences which retarded the peace for a time, have been rendered impotent by the well-forfeited ramifications to which the improvement has been extended."

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange was cheerful, but the forthcoming Whitsuntide holidays restricted business. Gilt-edged securities attracted increased attention from investors. Industrials and trans-Atlantic issues were firm on the strength in Wall Street, while rubber shares improved with the price of that raw material. Gold mining shares were weak, due to realizing. The close was steady.

Paris—Prices were moderately firm on the eve of the Whitsuntide holidays. The rise in rents stimulated other advances generally in the gold mining section, which was heavy. The closing tone was steady. The bourse will remain closed until Tuesday.

Berlin—Quotations on the bourse improved 1 to 2 points. The market closed firm.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—Cotton goods were firm and quiet today in unfinished lines. Printed percales for spot delivery have been advanced to a basis of 12½ cents for 4-4 80 squares. Towels have been advanced again. Wool goods are quiet and very firm. Burlaps are firm at top levels for the year. Acetate rayon was advanced 10 cents per pound for hosiery yarns.

CURB PRICES SOAR IN RECORD DEALING

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—In the broadest and most active market in nearly three years, curb stocks today pushed their way vigorously to new high levels for the current movement. Volume was about 1,240,000 shares, the highest since December 17, 1930.

Electric Refrigerator Sales Reach High Mark in April

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—Sales of household electric refrigerators in the domestic market were greater than those of the entire first quarter of the year, the Edison Electric Institute reported today.

The institute estimated sales for that month at 127,917 units, compared with 58,494 in March and 145,198 in April, 1932.

and comparing with 671,000 yesterday.

Utilities were swept to sharply higher levels by a buying wave. Oils also were buoyant under the lead of Humble and Gulf.

BONDS CLIMB AGAIN IN RUSHING SESSION

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—Led by secondary issues, the bond market swept forward today in one of the fastest sessions of the year. Gains of 1 to 6 or more points were recorded in all categories.

The upswing was attributed to a variety of factors, principal among which were the continued open market purchases of the Federal Reserve System.

The average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced 1.2 points to 77.5, another new 1933 peak, and sales totaled $20,558,000, par value, the largest aggregate since May 11.

SILK MARKET.

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—Raw silk futures closed strong: sales, 1,960 bales. July, *1.62; October, *1.69; December, *1.69.

Open market quotations (60 day basis). Shanghai steam filature, 78 per cent serisplane, 20-32a, 1.52. Canton double extra A, 14-16a, 1.32. Japanese special crack double extra, 81 per cent seriplane, 13-15a, 1.80.

WHEAT'S GAINS LOST AS DEMAND LESSENS

Rally Following Securities' Upturn Fails; Corn and Oats Cut.

Chicago, June 2 (A.P.).—Bolstered by upturns in securities, the grain markets developed considerable strength at times today, but sustained speculative demand was lacking and advances failed to hold.

Rapid growth of the new spring wheat crop tended to restrict buying, and there were reports that harvesting of winter wheat would be general throughout Oklahoma in about ten days. Traders showed a disposition to go slow on either side of the wheat market, pending fresh developments at Washington regarding administration of the farm relief act.

Wheat closed steady, unchanged to ¼ lower, compared with yesterday's finish; corn, ⅛ to ⅝ off; oats, ½ to ½ down, and provisions showing 10 to 20 cents gain.

A downward trend, manifest at the outset in wheat and recurrent at intervals afterward, was associated with talk that conditions directly affecting wheat were bearish, and that a broader demand, particularly when the new crop started to move in volume, would be needed to maintain prices.

Corn and oats, through governed largely by wheat action, also were influenced by favorable weather for field work over the greater part of the corn belt.

Provisions went upgrade, responsive to sharply higher quotations on hogs.

COTTON PRICES RISE IN SPITE OF SELLING

July Closes at 9.19, With General Market Up 1 to 6 Points.

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—Cotton fluctuated irregularly today, closing a shade higher.

July closed at 9.19 with the general market at a net advance of 1 to 12 points, January being 12 points higher while other months showed net gains of 1 to 6 points.

The opening was 3 points lower to 1 point higher. There was some selling in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of favorable weather in the South, but prices firmed up on a renewal of the recent buying movement accompanied by talk of possible constructive developments in connection with the conferences scheduled for tomorrow between agricultural adjustment administrators and the cotton trade at Washington.

The advance carried active months about 12 to 19 points net higher with December selling up to 9.72, but the market met increased realizing at these figures and prices declined to 9.59 for December or about 19 to 20 points from the best.

The late rally was attributed to trade buying combined with covering or rebuying by some of the earlier sellers with closing quotations showing rallies of 8 to 13 points from the lowest.

Liverpool cables reported a small but steady market there, with a better all-around inquiry for cotton goods in Manchester. Exports today, 87,451, making 7,253,389 so far this season. Port receipts, 33,438. United States port stocks, 3,879,073.

NATS TIE FOR 2D PLACE BY 8-3 DEFEAT OF RED SOX

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

MR. CLARK GRIFFITH of the Griffith Stadium Griffiths has gone to great lengths to impress upon Mr. Will Harridge, president of the American League, that his team was done out of the Decoration Day game here with the Yankees when Umpire Brick Owens decorated Lou Gehrig's clout over the right field fence with as foul a decision as Griffith has ever encountered in his 40 years of baseball.

Mr. Griffith has forwarded to Harridge the original prints of the photographs showing that Gehrig's wallop which went into the trees to the right of the foul line could not possibly have been fair; he has inclosed the signed seat stubs of 200 fans in the right field section, avowing the ball was foul, and he has informed Mr. Harridge, in addition, that Owens never did have any affections for the Washington Club.

Yet Mr. Griffith does not expect to gain a favorable decision on his protest. The rules say there can be no dispute of a decision on a batted ball and Mr. Griffith knows it.

Griffith Seeking Owens' Scalp.

Mr. Griffith is out for Brick Owens' job in the American League. He traces Owens' alleged prejudice against the Nats from the 1925 World Series, in Pittsburgh, when Owens called a Pirate hit fair which proved to be the turning point of the Pirates' victory in the series.

In addition to the data concerning the Yankee game here last Tuesday, Mr. Griffith has also forwarded to Mr. Harridge some unadulterated pictures of a decision at second base in a recent game here with Philadelphia, in which Mr. Owens is pictured calling Mickey Cochrane safe, even though Buddy Myer is putting the ball on him several feet from the bag. That is Griffith's trump card in his war on Owens and he's playing it with a flourish.

RUNS, HITS AND ERRORS.

Umpire Bill McGowan received credit for a put-out yesterday... when he put Manager McManus out of the game in the third inning... McManus asked for it with his belligerent attitude...and McGowan's "Y'er out" could be heard in the press box...then McManus' substi-

Wood Defeats Vines in Net Upset

Wins 5-Set Match From Champion by Stirring Rally.

Last Point Doubted; Lott Beats Sutter to Reach Finals.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 2 (U.P.).—Ellsworth Vines, No. 1 ranking player in the United States, was unexpectedly eliminated from the Dixie invitation tennis tournament today in a semifinal match that ended in a squabble over match point, finally resulting in Vines defaulting to Sidney Wood, jr., of New York.

Wood had been declared winner of the gruelling match, 0—6, 1—6, 6—3, 6—2, 6—4. Then, after the two had gone to the showers, a controversy arose among officials as to whether Vines' return of the ball on match point was in or out. The scorer had understood the ball was out, but a linesman declared he had not called it out and believed it to be good.

Wood Balks at Continuing.

Rather than play the point over, Vines defaulted to Wood, who expressed opposition to returning to the court to play the point.

Wood, No. 4 ranking player in the United States, will meet George Lott, of Chicago, a member with Vines of the United States Davis Cup team, in the final match of the tournament tomorrow. Lott defeated Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, seeded No. 3 in the tournament, 7—5, 5—7, 6—2, 0—6, 6—4, in a semifinal match this afternoon.

The Lott-Sutter match was in doubt from the beginning with Lott's brilliance at the net the decisive factor.

Trailing by three sets to one, Sutter made a stirring comeback to win the fourth set at love, but the loss of the set afforded Lott an opportunity to recuperate and he started a steady drive to win the fifth and decisive set.

Giants in Hitting Spree; Defeat Phils by 11 to 3

Philadelphia, June 2 (A.P.).—The New York Giants went on a batting spree in the fifth and sixth innings today and wound up with enough runs to beat the Phillies, 11 to 3. It was their second victory of the series and their sixth straight over the Phils this season.

Poor support ruined Flint Rhem's chances for a good game and Phil Collins, Clarence Pickrel and Austin Moore, who followed him, all proved ineffective. The Giants made nineteen hits, twelve in the two big innings.

Yankees Win; Grove Fails In Relief

Wild Throw Lets in Deciding Run in 8th, 5 to 4.

Gomez Strikes Out 13 for New Season's Mark in League.

NEW YORK, June 2 (A.P.).—Mose Grove's famous rescue act failed to hold the Yankees today and the league leaders knocked the Athletics out of second place with a 5-to-4 victory.

Grove was responsible to a large degree for the runs that decided the game, although Roy Mahaffey, who put them on the sacks, was charged with his first defeat of the season. The brilliant southpaw was called upon as a relief hurler for the ninth time in eleven games, after Mahaffey handed out a pair of passes in the eighth.

Ruffing Singles In Pinch.

Charley Ruffing, sent in as a pinch hitter to face Grove, promptly smacked out a single and drove in Arndt Jorgens with the tying run. Frank Crosetti went to third on the play and came in with the winning tally when Grove uncorked a wild pitch a moment later.

The A's had taken the lead off Southpaw Vernon Gomez on a homer by Dib Williams in the first half of the eighth after the lanky Castilian had given up only five hits in the first seven frames and had struck out 13 for a new season's record in the American League. Wiley Moore, who pitched the last inning, added a fourteenth whiffing. Max Bishop hit a homer for the second Athletic run in the fifth.

The Yanks collected two runs off Mahaffey in the first when four of the first five men up singled, but he yielded only three hits after that bad start. One of them was a circuit blow by Crosetti in the second.

Braves and Dodgers Split Double-Header

Boston, June 2 (A.P.).—The seventh-place Braves and the sixth-place Brooklyn Dodgers split their double-header today. Boston won the first game, 6 to 1, behind Dutch Brandt's five-hit southpaw pitching and Brooklyn came back to win the second, 7 to 2, as Ray Benge chalked up his first victory for the Dodgers.

Brooklyn, facing Brandt for the fourth time this season, could make little headway. He fanned seven and didn't issue a base on balls and the lone Dodger run, made after two were out in the ninth, was only the fifth they have scored off him this season. He has broken even in the four games.

Joe Stripp, third baseman, was forced out by illness in the fourth inning of the second game. He was suffering from a threatened attack of influenza.

Sewell Gallops to Third on Infielder's Wild Heave

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

Third Baseman Bernie Friberg's attempt to double Sewell off first in the fourth inning after catching Weaver's pop bunt proved a boomerang when he threw the ball far over the first baseman's head, enabling Sewell to reach third. The return throw went past Friberg.

BROWNS BOW TO INDIANS, 2-1 AND 1-0

Hildebrand Wins 1st and Harder 2d in Slab Duels.

ST. LOUIS, June 2 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Indians won two well-pitched ball games from the St. Louis Browns today by the close scores of 2 to 1 and 1 to 0.

In the first game the Indians outhit the Browns, 8 to 4. All four hits allowed by Hildebrand were for extra bases and the Browns' only score was on Campbell's homer in the ninth.

The Indians got only four hits as against six for the Browns in the second game. Doubles by Porter and Burnett gave the visitors their winning run in the first inning. Thereafter, Hadley allowed Cleveland only two safeties. Harder yielded only six hits and was effective in the pinches.

King Levinsky Beats Griffiths on Points

Chicago, June 2 (U.P.).—King Levinsky, 202, Chicago, tonight won a 10-round decision from Tuffy Griffiths, 186, Chicago, before 5,000 fans at the Mills Stadium.

Griffiths was down twice, once in the third round and again in the seventh, both times for no count. Levinsky was on the floor in the final round, but the referee did not have time to start counting before he was up on his feet.

The United Press score sheet gave Levinsky six rounds, Griffiths three and one even.

Tigers' 16-Hit Attack Routs Chisox, 14 to 1

Detroit, June 2 (A.P.).—Detroit put on a carnival of hits today to humble the Chicago White Sox, 14 to 1, for their second straight victory in the current series. The Tigers collected sixteen hits.

Milt Gaston started on the mound for Chicago, but he gave way to Chad Kimsey after one man was out in the first inning, when four runs were scored. Miller later succeeded Kimsey. Walker lifted a home run over the left-field fence for Detroit in the sixth.

Art Herring gave the White Sox only six hits.

Monte Weaver has never been beaten by the Red Sox in his two years in the big leagues . . . and Alvin Crowder beat the White Sox eight straight last season . . . two of the Nats' worst pitching jinxes were Dixie Davis and Elam Van Gilder . . . Clark Griffith says that Buddy Myer himself was to blame for several nasty spills he took at second base several years ago . . . when he was a greenhorn at the job and didn't know how to cover the bag . . . but he adds that the fellow who spills Myer now has got to go out of his way to do it . . . meaning Ben Chapman, particularly . . . like race horses, junior and boy tennis players all have birthdays on January 1 . . . for the sake of the tennis records . . . Ed Fuller held a show ticket on Miss Catalan, paying $229 to win at Hagerstown Thursday . . . Col. E. R. Bradley, whose Blue Larkspur won the Arlington Classic in 1929, is trying to win it again this year with a filly—Barn Swallow . . . she meets the unbeaten Swivel . . . who was the long-shot choice in the winter books for the Derby.

Lefty Grove has won more than 20 games each season for the Athletics since 1926 . . . he reached his high mark in 1931 with 31 wins and 4 defeats . . . quoting from a letter from an American student at Oxford: "After every meet, each athlete takes it upon himself to get thoroughly inebriated. They start out with a few bottles of claret or sherry, then work up to port and brandy with possibly a side shot of hot ale, finally topping it off with straight whisky." . . . how about a night cap? . . . a Cleveland fan is unkind enough to suggest that if the Cleveland owner must punish some one for the slump of the team he might look into the mirror and take a poke at what he finds there.

SOX TO FACE WHITEHILL TODAY

Pipgras Is Likely to Oppose Nats in 3d of Series.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IT will be up to Lefty Earl Whitehill to make it two out of three for the Nats this afternoon against the Red Sox. The former Detroit southpaw has lost several hard-luck games this season, but is confident his luck will change today. He was the victim of Umpire Brick Owen's foul decision, which gave Lou Gehrig a homer and the Yanks a 3-to-2 victory on Decoration Day. George Pipgras, former Yankee flinger, likely will toil on the hill for the Beaneaters, although Manager Marty McManus has several other starters available.

Manager Joe Cronin tried another line-up shift yesterday, reinstating Buddy Myer as lead-off man, with Joe Kuhel hitting in the sixth hole.

Lloyd Brown, former Nat hurler who was traded to the Browns last winter and recently shifted to the Red Sox, complained of a sore arm yesterday. He likely will see action tomorrow, though, in the final game of the current set.

Skipper McManus almost tore off Weaver's glove with a liner in the first.

McManus and his Sox argued long and loud over Umpire McGowan's decision that Manush was safe in the third when he advanced on the throw-in of his single. McManus finally was put out of the game and Coach Hulswitt took charge of the team. Barney Friberg, veteran National Leaguer, took Marty's place at third.

Friberg made a great try for Ossie Bluege's single in the third, but missed getting the runner by inches. Ossie gave the excitable ladies' day fans a thrill by tripping over a match on his way to first and skidding off the bag on his left ear. Fortunately, he was not hurt.

Hodapp stopped at second on his drive to left in the fourth, but then went on to third when Manush's throw-in hit a glove lying on the field and skidded past Cronin. Manush had to be charged with an error because Hodapp gained an extra base on the play.

Schulte came in fast to take Hodapp's looper in short left-center ending the alien sixth.

When Weaver walked Ferrell and Pinch-hitter Fothergill to fill the bases with Red Sox in the seventh, Jack Russell started industriously warming up in the bull-pen. But he was not needed.

Goslin used to be well-nigh helpless on slow-ball offerings, but when Rhodes gave him one in the seventh, he shot it to left for a clean safety.

Jolley's triple in the eighth was a prodigious clout, hitting the fence just to the left of the flag-pole.

New York Yankees Sign College First Baseman

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees added another promising college ball player to their assets today, signing John (Buddy) Hassett, Manhattan College first baseman. He will report to one of the Yankee farms after graduation, June 15. He hit .380 through his college career.

Johnny Broaca, Yale pitching ace who signed recently with the Yanks, reported today and pitched in batting practice. He probably will be farmed out shortly.

HEAD PLAY FAVORITE IN $25,000 AMERICAN DERBY TODAY

Two Fillies Named for Classic

Technique, Bamboula Listed; Kurtsinger Rides Choice.

Mr. Khayyam Again Meets Winner of Preakness.

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY.

WASHINGTON PARK RACE TRACK, Chicago, June 2 (A. P.).—The big red flier from Kentucky, Head Play, will attempt to wipe out a defeat by Mr. Khayyam two weeks ago at Jamaica, when they meet tomorrow in the $25,000 added World's Fair American Derby.

Thirty thousand spectators are expected to witness a field of ten horses contest for the rich prize. All the foremost 3-year-olds eligible for the mile and a quarter stake were named to start, including two fillies, and two colts which have never won a race. The fillies are Technique and Bamboula, the latter winner of the Illinois Oaks last Saturday.

Head Play, second to Broker's Tip in the Kentucky Derby and winner of the Preakness, was quoted at 7 to 5, with Mr. Khayyam, his conqueror in the Wood Memorial, and Charley O., third in the Kentucky Derby, ruling as second choices, at 4 to 1. The next choice was the Eastern colt, Gold Basis, owned by M. L. Schwartz, who shipped Gusto to Washington Park a year ago and cantered off with the 1932 Derby, as well as the Arlington classic a month later.

Gold Basis Carefully Prepped.

Gold Basis has not started for some time but has been carefully pointed by Trainer Maxie Hirsch for tomorrow's race.

Instead of selecting Lee Humphries, America's leading rider, to have the mount on Head Play, Trainer Tom Hayes made a hurry-up call for Charlie Kurtsinger, who piloted Head Play in his Preakness Stakes victory. Humphries is the contract rider for Mrs. Silas B. Mason, owner of the Derby favorite.

Jockey Johnny Gilbert will be astride Charley O., while Pete Walls will have the mount on Mr. Khayyam, which will carry the hopes of the East.

Bamboula and Technique, carrying only 113 pounds, will have a big pull in the weights over the colts. Head Play will carry top weight of 126 pounds.

Swinhaven and Sun Envoy will be seeking their first win in the big race. The former has had plenty of opportunity to win with no success, while Sun Envoy was the surprise entry of Willis Sharpe Kilmer, the Eastern sportsman. Sun Envoy has never been to the post before.

American Legion Nines In 2 Frays Tomorrow

The usual two games are scheduled in the American Legion series tomorrow. Lincoln Post engages Spengler at 10:30 a. m., on the West Ellipse, and George Washington hooks up with Costello at 1 p. m. on the same diamond.

Legion officials have arranged for a novice swimming meet for members of the rival teams to be held in Glen Echo crystal pool July 6 at 7 p. m. Arrangements for the affair have not been completed.

Tunney Predicts Victory for Baer

San Francisco, June 2 (A.P.).—Because he thinks Schmeling "lacks a real punch," Gene Tunney would favor Baer if he were making a bet on the outcome of the battle between the two Maxes Thursday in New York.

The former champion gave his opinion in a letter received here today by a friend, John Flammer.

Tunney described Schmeling as "strong and game," but added, "I do not think he is great or destructive. If he wins from Baer it will be by decision for my opinion is that he lacks a real punch, unless he nails some 'chump' running in. If I were forced to bet I would have to bet on Baer."

THIS MORNING:

tute, Barney Friberg, proceeded to show his boss up with two clean singles in his first two times at bat...Friberg's home runs used to win a lot of games for the old Phillies...he's one of the few former National Leaguers to catch on with an American League team...the only former National Leaguer to win a regular job in the American League in recent years is Evar Swanson, the White Sox outfielder ...but the number of American Leaguers who made good in the National is legion...there must be a difference between the two leagues...Luke Sewell, the Nats' catcher, couldn't see left field when Fatty Fothergill appeared at the plate as a pinch hitter in the seventh...Fothergill's that big and loomed larger as a result of the pinch single that helped to win Thursday's game for the Red Sox.

Metropolitan Mile Draws Star Field

Equipoise Will Tackle Questionnaire Today in 40th Event.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, June 2 (A.P.).—Two of the turf's greatest thoroughbreds, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise and James Butler's Questionnaire, will match strides for the first time tomorrow when they come together, with seven other speedsters, in the fortieth running of the classic Metropolitan Mile at Belmont Park.

Each won the famous event as 4-year-olds. Questionnaire, a rival of the famous Gallant Fox in 1930, was the first home in 1931. Equipoise, holder of the American record of 1:34 2-5 for one mile, carried off the honors last year.

For Questionnaire, it will be his first start since April, 1932, when he went lame and it was feared he would never face the barrier again. Equipoise has been out once this year, easily winning the Harve de Grace Handicap.

Equipoise to Give Weight.

Equipoise has been assigned the top impost of 128 pounds and will give from 5 to 33 pounds to his rivals. Questionnaire, with the "Bronx Express," Silvio Coucci, in the saddle, will pack 123 pounds. Both colts have trained perfectly for their clash and with the promise of a fast track, the race should be a real classic.

The Whitney speedster was the prerace favorite at 4 to 5, with Questionnaire quoted at 5 to 2.

The remainder of the field, all lightly regarded, will consist of E. R. Bradley's Brother Joe, Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Okapi, W. R. Coe's Pomponius, Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch, Charles H. Thieriot's Scoutmaster, the Wheatley Stable's Dark Secret and the Brandon Stable's Brandon Mint.

D. C. NETMEN BEATEN BY BALTIMORE IN HOTCHKISS PLAY

Tom Mangan Is Victim of Dr. Howard

Jacobs Extended by Garnett; Hebner by Rutley.

Richmond Wins Over Norfolk Easily; Finals Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

RICHMOND, Va., June 2.—Led by Dr. John Howard, victor over Tom Mangan in three bitter sets, Baltimore eliminated Washington, defending champion, to meet the Richmond team in tomorrow's tennis finals of the Hotchkiss Cup matches at the Country Club of Virginia.

Overcoming a first set handicap, Dr. Howard varied offensive smashing with hard drives to deep court to lift the second and rubber sets against the Washington star at 7—9, 7—5, 6—1. Past the first opposition, Baltimore drew out its winning streak in decisive fashion against the Capital netmen, gaining team victory by a 7—2 score. One of Washington's two victories was gained without a stroke when Howard and Hebner, of Baltimore, defaulted to the powerful doubles combination of Rutley and Howenstein.

Protracted Play Features.

Crushing as was the team outcome against Baltimore, individual matches were characterized by protracted play in game set duels. Garnett, No. 2 singles player for Washington, extended Billy Jacobs, third ranking South Atlantic star, to 7—5, 7—5, and in the succeeding singles match, Rutley, of Washington, fought Hebner on a set-all basis before his fine defensive game disintegrated in the deciding set, which his Baltimore opponent ran through in love fashion.

Another rubber set match was contended for in the sixth singles, with Hellen, of Washington falling victim to the placement game of Warner at 7—5, 1—6, 6—4.

Flawless play of Billy Jacobs and overhead kills at the net by Claybaugh carried Baltimore to a 6—4, 6—7, 6—3 conquest of Mangan and Hellen in the second doubles, a heart-breaking defeat for the Capital team.

Mt. Rainier Nine Wins Section Title

Timely batting, together with the four-hit pitching of Foster Mathias, enabled Mount Rainier High's baseball team to conquer Maryland Park High, 7 to 4, yesterday afternoon on the University of Maryland field. The victory gave the Mounts the northern section championship to Prince Georges County and the right to meet Oxon Hill Hgh, southern group finalist, for the county title. The game was the final of a play-off series between Mount Rainier, Maryland Park and Hyattsville Highs.

The Mounts scored four runs in the third and three in the seventh, meanwhile holding the Parkers scoreless. The latter rallied in the last two frames to tally four runs.

Mathias struck out eleven Maryland Park batters and scattered four hits over as many innings. Rocker, third baseman, led the Mounts' attack with a double and single in three times at bat and scored two runs.

G. U. Prep Golfers Are Semifinalists

An all-Georgetown Prep final for the school's fourth annual invitational golf tournament was assured yesterday when the three remaining visitors in competition were eliminated in the quarter-final round. Its clean sweep also assured the host school of the team championship.

Page Cornwell, of St. Alban's School and the Columbia Country Club, met defeat at the hands of Jimmy Ferguson, Georgetown Prep, in an astounding upset. Ferguson won by the decisive margin of 3 and 2. John Ortman, St. John's, was eliminated by Frank Allan, 3 and 1. Ortman took three holes on stymies.

Maury Nee won handily over Pearson Stanley, another St. John's representative, by a score of 5—4, while Billy Detweiler eliminated a teammate, Dick Jenney, by the same margin. The latter couple played brilliantly, scoring eight birdies between them. Detweiler's medal score was 68 and Jenney's 72.

Detweiler will oppose Allan and Nee will meet Ferguson in the semifinal matches scheduled today. The finals will be played tomorrow.

Boss Gets New Hearing In Girl's Assault Case

Chicago, June 2 (A.P.).—A judgment awarding Miss Lillian Mitchell $10,000 in a suit against Harley Boss, first baseman for the Cleveland American League Club, today was set aside by Circuit Judge Martin Finneran. June 19 was set as the date for a new hearing.

McGah, representing Boss, said his client had not been notified of the action and desired to answer the charges. Attorney for Miss Mitchell agreed to the rehearing.

Boss was the property of the Washington Club until traded to Cleveland last winter for Jack Russell.

Von Elm Tied With Foulis In St. Paul

Both Score 70's and Lead Field in 1st Day of Play.

ST PAUL, Minn., June 2 (A.P.)—George Von Elm, the busy business man of golf, and Jimmy Foulis, of Chicago, started in where the big wind of Keller stopped today to dominate the first 18-hole engagement of the $5,000 St. Paul Open championship.

As the wind blew scores of many of the Nation's greatest stars skyward and then suddenly relented, Von Elm and Foulis, the Illinois State professional champion, stormed into a first place tie with par-smashing totals of 70.

Their totals were the only subpar performances of the day, which saw five members of America's Ryder Cup team on the score boards with tallies of 73 and upward.

Archie Hambrick Is Third.

Archie Hambrick, long-driving professional from Zanesville, Ohio, finished third with a par 72 performance while five others, including Capt. Walter Hagen of the Ryder Cup team and one of his star freshmen, Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., landed close up with 73s.

With them were two St. Paul stars, Amateur Lester Bolstad, of Big Ten Conference gold fame, and Len Mattson, pro of the Keller course, and Ralph Guldahl, of St. Louis.

Six others had 74s—Olin Dutra, of Los Angeles, national pro titleholder; Harry Cooper, of Chicago, winner of the St. Paul Open in 1930; Sam Parks, Uniontown, Pa.; Johnny Revolta, rising Menominee, Mich., star, and two Minneapolis players, Ernest Penfold and Amateur Lee Herron, Minnesota Open champion.

Diegel and Dudley Shoot 79's.

Ryder Cup Players Leo Diegel and Ed Dudley, two of the chief victims of the wind, were far back with 79s.

While many of the contenders came into the clubhouse and muttered about bumpy greens, Von Elm's putter was so hot he needed only 31 putts.

He scored three birdies and lost one shot on the sixteenth, where his putter rebelled, and needed three strokes to get him home. His best shot was a rousing brassie shot on the final green, which gave him a birdie 4.

Prodigious drives, fine fairway play and a brilliant approach game enabled Foulis to beat par. Twice he canned putts from 20 feet, but generally he missed easy ones for birdies from only a few feet away.

Bobby Cruickshank, the wee Scot from Richmond, Va., who took a 77, said Foulis might have scored a 65 with a little more putting luck.

NATS TIE FOR SECOND, BEAT RED SOX, 8-3

Gowan stuck up his thumb and made Mr. McManus leave the ball park.

Down by the press box they told us girls that Mr. McManus had been told to vanish, or was banished, or something. Anyway, he didn't play any more and they put Mr. Barney Friberg, one of the reserve men, on third base in Mr. McManus' place.

It didn't seem quite fair when the Boston players began to send in three pitchers to our one, but the Nats apparently couldn't tell the difference. Boston started out with Bob Weiland, who is left-handed, and only let him pitch three innings for some reason. Then they had Paul Andrews, who they let pitch only four innings, and then they put in Gordon Rhodes, who is really too good-looking to be a ball player.

Something Is Wrong At the Start.

There was something wrong right at the start. Buddy Myer, who is a left-handed batsman and not supposed to hit left-handed pitching, batted a one-base single into right field, and then Heinie Manush, who also isn't supposed to hit left-handed pitching, batted a two-base double to right field. We girls began to think that these left-handed theories were a lot of hooey and then when Goose Goslin batted a one-base single to right field we knew it. The Nats had three runs then and could have won at least a tie game if they had stopped right there.

But they didn't. Buddy Myer singled again in the third and Heinie Manush doubled again and that was when Mr. McManus and Mr. McGowan had words, but anybody could see that Heinie was safe at second. Anyway, Mr. McGowan put Mr. McManus out of the game for something those nice men behind us said was a good old Irish colloquialism, whatever that is. They started to play some more and Mr. Weiland let Joe Cronin go to first base on four balls with intent, or malice aforethought, or something. Then he struck out Fred Schulte, but Joe Kuhel hit a two-base double to center field and all in all the Nats had three more runs.

Weaver Hurling Nice Ball.

Those men behind us said that meant the ball game the way Weaver was pitching, and I guess they were right, but just to keep in practice, I guess, Mr. Griffith's players scored another run in the fourth and two more runs in the seventh on some more base hits by Goose Goslin and Joe Cronin and Fred Schulte. They got 13 hits altogether.

If it hadn't been for Mr. Jolley bouncing two of Monte's pitches up against the fences in the seventh and eighth innings, the Red Sox would only have made the one run that Johnny Hodapp batted home in the fourth inning. So it's easy to see Monte almost pitched a shutout.

Public Parks Net League To Open

Montrose Is Favorite to Capture Title This Year.

PLAY in the Public Parks Tennis League will be inaugurated today on widely scattered courts with three matches scheduled. The outstanding match brings together Henry Park, defending champion, and Montrose Park, runner-up for the title. They clash at Henry Park.

Potomac invades Monument courts for a bit of racquet wielding with the home team, with Rock Creek slated to oppose Pierce Mills on a court not yet selected.

A rough road confronts Henry. Gilbert Hunt, Bob Considine and Dick Mason, a trio of worthies who played important roles in capturing the championship last season, are no longer with the team. Mason switched his allegiance to Rock Creek, Considine has abandoned the sport temporarily and Hunt has not returned from school.

Montrose Seen As Victor.

Judging from the formidable array of talent reposing on its roster, Montrose will be sitting on the throne when the season has run its course. Dooley Mitchell, Tony Latona, Bill Buchannon, Jim Heiskel and Happy Jacobs represent the team. Of course Henry retains Pat Deck, Bill Sidell, Finlay Talburt and Al Yeatman, and has added a chap by the name of Blade, recently arrived from California, but the odds remain in favor of its rival.

The Capital City League opening is scheduled tomorrow. Veterans Administration will face Wardman at Henry Park and Filipino Club tackles Columbia on courts yet to be announced.

"I'd Rather Face Schmeling Than Baer," Says Dempsey

By HENRY McLEMORE.

NEW YORK, June 2 (U.P.).—If the years were suddenly rolled away (and that roll of fat around the middle) and William Harrison Dempsey found himself a fighting man again, he would much rather get in there with Max Schmeling than Max Baer.

At least, that's what Jack said today as we sat in his little cubbyhole of an office hard by the Broadway that now knows him as a promoter and patron of the night clubs.

Maybe he din't mean it. Certainly, there were enough people calling up (for tickets) and people calling by (for tickets) to get a fellow confused. But that's what he said, and you can take it or leave it as Dempsey's selection of the winner in the fight of the two Maxes next Thursday night.

"Yes, sir," Jack said, as he propped his feet on the desk, "if I was a fighting guy again and I had my choice of those two boys, I'd take Schmeling."

With our famed quickness for getting at the bottom of things, we asked him why.

"Well, you can figure the German. He's like a good thoroughbred horse. When he goes to the post you know what he is going to do. I know and you know just what kind of a fight he'll deliver next week—just what punches he'll throw, the defense he'll use and how he'll pace himself along.

"But this cockeyed Baer is something else again. Not even Baer himself knows what he's going to do next. He's just a big Harry Greb, tossing leather from any and all angles and eternally coming in with both fists cocked. That sort gets awfully tiresome and bothersome in a hurry, and you got to remember that Baer doesn't have to hit you but once. Whereas most fighters have to pop you several times to soften you up. The Californian needs to land but once. One smack from that right hand of his and the work is done. It softens you up, knocks you cold, down and out, all at once."

Yes, we said, but what chance did he stand of getting that right hand in? By the time he got it going, wouldn't a smart, fast boy like Schmeling be in an adjoining county?

"Well, it's this way. Baer is so big and so strong, and can absorb so many punches that he is bound to connect at last. I don't believe there's anybody who can throw a stiff enough punch to lay him out with one crack, or two cracks, or even three. If Schmeling wins by a knockout, it will be in the late rounds after he has pounded and pounded Baer, round after round."

What did he think the fight would draw?

"Two hundred thousand or better," opined Mr. Dempsey, and added: "And in these times that's not haircut money. It's very serious money."

Zaharias to Meet Steinke Thursday

Ernie Dusek's bout with Dick Shikat at the ball park Thursday night was only the beginning of small elimination tournament to select an opponent for the next appearance of Jim Londos in this city, it appears. Promotor Joe Turner yesterday announced the card for next Thursday and included on it are three potential opponents for the Greek.

Hans Steinke, who chopped down towering Leo Pinetzki Thursday, meets George Zaharias in the opening portion of the twin-bill. Little Abe Coleman has drawn Karl Davis for his opponent in the nightcap.

Of the three Steinke appears to have the best chance of ousting young Dusek from the spot opposite the head man of the circuit, that is, if Dusek is to be ousted, which isn't very likely. Coleman recently succumbed to Dusek at the Auditorium. Zaharias tangled with Londos on the Coast some months ago and put up a good battle before he was thrown.

GRIFFITH PLAY TODAY.

Detroit Trades Wyatt To Chisox for Frasier

Detroit, June 2 (A.P.).—Whitlow Wyatt, with the Tigers' pitching staff for several seasons excepting for a sojourn with Beaumont, in the Texas League, was traded late today to the Chicago White Sox for Victor Frasier, also a pitcher. No other consideration was involved.

Last season Wyatt won nine and lost thirteen games. He has not been used much by the Tigers this season.

Henri Cochet Step Nearer Net Title

Wins Over Menzel in Straight Sets as Boussus Loses.

AUTEUIL, France, June 2 (A.P.).—Henri Cochet today showed he was nearing his top tennis form, which means just about the best in the world, as he trounced the Czech Internationalist, Roderich Menzel, in straight sets to enter the semifinal court championships in defense of his title.

Playing better than at any previous time this year, Cochet mowed down his burly opponent 7—5, 6—4, 6—1, with little difficulty. Menzel pulled up from 5—1 to deuce the first set, but was no match for the little Frenchman through most of the play.

Jack Crawford, champion of Australia, also entered the semifinal round with a straight set victory over Christian Boussus, third ranking French star, who upset Frank Shields, the only American entrant, in the fourth round. Crawford won as he pleased 6—3, 6—3, 6—4.

To Oppose Marcel Or Bernard.

Cochet will meet the winner of the match between Marcel Bernard, one of the most promising young French players, and H. G. N. Lee, the Englishman, in the semifinals of the lower bracket. Crawford will play either Fred Perry, English Davis Cup Star, or Jiro Satoh, former Japanese champion.

Mme. Mathieu, first ranking French woman player, became a favorite to win the women's singles title as she smothered Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, England's No. 3, in a quarterfinal match, 6—2, 6—0. She is expected to meet Helen Jacobs, United States champion, in the semifinal contest of the upper half of draw. Miss Jacobs is favored to defeat Jacqueline Goldschmidt, her French opponent, in the quarterfinals.

Margaret Scriven Wins Upset.

Margaret Scriven, ranked only twelfth in the English list, provided an upset as she defeated Mary Heeley, first ranking English star, 6—2, 6—4, in a quarterfinal match of the lower half. She will meet the winner of the match between Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke, the other American entrant, in the second semifinal.

The four remaining quarterfinal matches in men's and women's singles will be contested tomorrow, with the semifinals Sunday and the finals in both divisions Monday.

MUSSOLINI will again be heard in the United States this morning. His address before the Italian Senate on the Four Power Pact will be rebroadcast here over WMAL at 11 o'clock.

The Premier will speak in Italian, but his address will be followed by a summary in English.

THE fact that Frederic R. Huber, director of Station WBAL at Baltimore, has been granted until September to further continue synchronization with WJZ, New York, would seem to indicate that satisfactory progress is being made.

WBAL is obliged to share its frequency with WTIC at Hartford and therefore ordinarily would be on the air for part of the time. However, through synchronization with WJZ, that is to say, bringing the WJZ programs into Baltimore over the latter's frequency, WBAL virtually is a full-time station.

When WBAL is required to give up its morning time to the Hartford station Baltimore listeners simply turn their dials to WJZ and receive the New York programs, not with the uncertainty frequently encountered with a distant station, but with about the same volume and quality as if they were listening to WJZ locally, or to WBAL.

Johnny Marvin, lonesome singer, was born in a covered wagon trekking the trail to Indian Territory, and his parents can't decide whether he was born in Missouri, Kansas or Oklahoma.

DR. HANS LUTHER, new German Ambassador to the United States and Hitler's first official representative in Washington, will be heard over WJSV tonight at 9:15. He will speak on "Germany's Policy of Reconstruction."

The American Derby, which will be run at the Washington Park Jockey Club, Chicago, will be described over WRC at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Clem McCarthy, N. B. C. turf expert, will be at the microphone to call the race as Head Play, Mr. Khayyam, Trace Call, Charley O and perhaps a dozen other horses face the barrier, ready to compete for the $25,000 first money.

Twelve years ago this summer a woman's cries for help startled bathers on the beach at Michigan City. Two mighty men, their bathing suits bulging at every seam, swam to the distressed lady and together towed her to safety. Then the rescuers took a good look at each other and introduced themselves. That was the first meeting of Eddie East and Ralph Dumke, destined in later years to win fame as Sisters of the Skillet.

REPRESENTATIVE HAROLD McGUGIN, of Kansas, will raise the question, "Who Pays When the Government Spends?" when he is heard as speaker on the American Taxpayers' League program at 7 p. m. over WMAL.

The marble tournament finals will be described from the New York Avenue Playgrounds over WJSV at 11 o'clock this morning. Forty-five minutes will be devoted to this event.

A dinner concert will be given by the Nordica Mandolin and Guitar Orchestra under the direction of Walter T. Holt, over WOL at 5:45 o'clock.

THE Washington Oratorio Society will broadcast excerpts from Haydn's "The Creation," from Station WMAL this afternoon at 4:15. The soloists will be Esther Ingram, soprano; George Anderson, tenor, and Neal Parrish, bass-barytone.

George F. Kortzenborn will direct the program, which will be accompanied by Marjorie Davis at the piano. The chorus will have 85 voices.

Cab Calloway's absence from the air while he is on tour may be a source of sincere regret to his listeners, but none of them feels it more keenly than a Kansas fan who got into difficulty.

One day last week a deputy sheriff appeared at the studio of WREN, at Lawrence, Kans., and served the program director with a summons to appear as a witness in court the same afternoon. In court, the defendant in a holdup case testified that he was at home listening to Cab Calloway and his Cotton Club Orchestra over WREN when the holdup occurred. The station log proved that Calloway wasn't broadcasting over WREN at that time, and the holdupper got a year and a day.

"Zeppelin Raid on London," a thrilling wartime drama in which the work of British Intelligence agents back of enemy lines prepared London for a mighty air attack, will be reenacted during the K-7 broadcast over WRC at 7:30 p. m.

"Iolanthe," the Gilbert and Sullivan humorous light opera that tells of the charming fairy, Iolanthe, punished by her queen for marrying the mortal Lord Chancellor of England, will be presented during the Gilbert and Sullivan broadcast tonight at 8 o'clock over WMAL.

The Fiddlers, a feature of the Corncob Pipe Club, from Station WRVA, in Richmond, Va., are country boys who play at Virginia crossroad parties.

Jake Tyler is the leader and the tenor, and WRVA attendants say that he has the loudest tenor voice in the South. Although an untutored musician, Jake has turned down many offers of professional work, for he refuses to leave Virginia. C. S. Matthews sings bass and plays the guitar, as well as the fiddle. H. L. Hughes is the only one of the four who plays by note. Osborn Tyler is the jew's-harp specialist, and imitates buzzsaws and airplanes.

"WASHINGTON'S First Water Pageant" will be outlined by Dr. R. L. Sexton over WJSV at 6:30 o'clock.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

New York.—It's quite a coincidence the way those two pretty little rich girls, Doris Duke and Barbara Hutton, always pop up in the news together.

Hardly had the wires given out news of the betrothal of the heiress to the Woolworth millions to Prince Mdivani, before they were also rippling out the story of Doris' set-to with photographers at the May ball.

These two lasses are extremely lovely and they are the two wealthiest young women on these shores, but there the similarity ends. Barbara goes and comes as she pleases and, while she is rarely interviewed, she never objects to posing for cameramen.

The youthful princess of the Duke tobacco dynasty, however, lives a secluded life, is always accompanied by bodyguards and is as shy of cameramen as usually is J. P. Morgan.

At the May ball she fled from one end of the place to the other because she thought cameramen were following her. It seems they weren't.

Add Noted Speeches.

A collection of keynote speeches of the year hardly would be complete if it failed to include that of John Ruggieri, who was given first prize for having the neatest and most attractive push cart wagon in the Second avenue sidewalk market.

After Al Smith presented him with a medal, Signor Ruggieri replied:

"Thanks, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, for very fine how they treated me. I have here very fine pineapples, oranges and onions and hope this spitch brings more beeseness to Second avenue pushcart. Thank you."

Now there's a man who can appreciate the art of his profession, remembering at the same time to include the practical side of the new deal in trade.

Tracy's a Changed Man.

Lee Tracy has been back in town for a week, but the siesta influence of that Hollywood sunshine must have removed one of his most charming sides. Since he has returned I've expected every morning that my telephone would ring at 5 o'clock. But it hasn't.

It used to be this caballero's habit to call up his friends at dawn. "Did I awaken you?" he laughingly inquires.

"You did," is the growling response. "Good," he retorts, "now I've done my evil deed for the day."

Tracy is one of the regulars that Broadway really misses. His infectious good humor gave him a popularity along that lane that was surpassed only by the affection the Rialto holds for Jimmie Walker and George M. Cohan.

Two firms on Fifth avenue do not have their names on the buildings. One is a department store and the other is a jewelry shop.

"GEMINI."

IF June 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 3:30 p. m. to 4:50 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 a. m. to 8:55 a. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6:10 p. m.

The child born on this June 3 will need a great deal of prodding in regard to its school work. You may find him exhibiting traits of laziness and selfishness; he will exert himself only insofar as it is necessary in order to secure the pleasures that he desires.

If June 3 is your birthday, you are quite likely a person who can readily adapt himself to changing conditions; you are not one to balk and complain when changes of policy or procedure are inaugurated. You are not an imaginative person nor are you able to create and invent. You do, however, exhibit great powers of discernment and you probably have a deep-rooted ability to straighten out tangled business and financial affairs and set them aright. You have an eye and a memory for detail that would serve you well in the practice of law or in the field of engineering.

If June 3 is the date of your birth, you are possessed of great dignity. You do not mix freely with the "common people" but you maintain your aloofness and still know how to keep them on your side and make them feel that you are a real good fellow. You are meticulous in your dress and inclined to be a little overly fussy in the matter of your eating. You are not usually discriminating in your choice of friends of the opposite sex, but the chances are that you will marry rather well in spite of that fact.

Amherst Probes Burning Of Flag by Communists

Amherst, Mass., June 2 (A.P.).—The burning of the American flag by a group of self-styled Young Communists brought about today an investigation of student activities at Amherst College.

The meeting of the self-styled radicals was broken up last night by a larger group of students. Three of the Communists were injured during the ensuing fight, but none required hospital treatment. Twenty Amherst freshmen held forth on Communism for an hour before about 100 classmates put them to flight. The radicals burned a small American flag to "show their internationalism" during the meeting.

32 CAMPS NEARBY IN NEW JOBS PLAN

6,400 Men Will Be Sent to Sites in Maryland and Virginia.

Additional Maryland and Virginia reforestation camps, one of them in Fairfax County, are among the 261 locations approved by President Roosevelt, it was announced yesterday by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Of the new camps, 26 will be in Virginia and 6 in Maryland. The Virginia locations will use 5,200 men, many of them going to the National Military Park around Fredericksburg. The Maryland camps will house 1,200 men.

The Fairfax County camp will be one of 19 to be located on private lands, but the exact site of the nearby camp has not been announced. Owners of the private lands have agreed to reimburse the Government for the work done by the reforestation army, it is understood.

Other camps on private lands will be located in the following counties: Sussex, Buckingham, Bath, Craig, Bland, Giles, Montgomery, Albemarle, Chesterfield, Prince Edward, Wise, Dickenson, Brunswick, Lunenburg, Warren, Page, Madison, Spotsylvania, Fluvanna, Gloucester and New Kent. One camp will be located in Henrico County on a State park, while two will be placed on the State park in Bath County. There will be one camp in the National Military Park on the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania County Battlefields Memorial, and one in the vicinity of Petersburg and Camp Lee. Dickenson County will have two camps located in the State park.

Maryland's camps will be located: Two in Garrett County, one in Dorchester, one in Howard, one in Frederick and one in Alleghany.

Universal Edison Memorial Urged

Dr. Alfredo Warsaw, guest yesterday at the joint luncheon of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club and Rotary Club, in the George Mason Hotel, described his plan for a universal memorial to the late Thomas Alva Edison, as "a light with no beginning and no ending." He stated that undoubtedly magnificent memorials would be erected in various parts of the world to the memory of the great inventor, but that his conception of a fitting tribute was one of small cost but world-wide coverage.

Appropriateness, without benefit of public assessment, he said, should characterize this project. It is his proposal that each town, hamlet and village should set aside one of its municipal lights to the memory of Edison, the globe to be of a peculiar color, and might appropriately have the likeness of Edison affixed beneath it. This conception, he said, came to him in a dream.

A vocal contest between the Kiwanis and Rotary quartets was staged at this joint meeting, with honors declared equal. President Irving Diener of the Kiwanis presided.

TERRAPIN MEMORIAL UNVEILED

The Terrapin Memorial, erected by the University of Maryland senior class of 1923, was unveiled yesterday by the terrapin from which the memorial was designed. Names of the members of the winning senior athletic class will be inscribed each year at the base of the memorial. Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the university, is shown shaking hands with Maj. Ralph J. Williams, of the First Battalion, R. O. T. C., president of the Student Government Association and originator of the memorial.

CITIZENSHIP PRIZES GIVEN AT U. OF MD.

Seniors Present Model to School at Annual Class Day Exercises.

Ralph Irvin Williams, 1235 Madison street northwest, and Eva Catherine Bixler, of Capitol Heights, Md., yesterday received the citizenship prizes, highest awards to be given by the University of Maryland, at the University of Maryland, at the university's annual class day.

Awarding of the prizes followed an impressive ceremony in front of the Ritchie Coliseum where a bronze terrapin—the senior class gift to the college—was unveiled by the terrapin that posed for the model.

The ceremonies were opened with a presentation speech by Mr. Williams who, as president of the student body, acted on behalf of the senior class.

Dr. W. A. Pearson, president of the university, in a short speech accepted the gift on behalf of the Board of Regents. C. A. Byrd, executive vice president of the university, then expressed the appreciation of the institution for the gift.

At 3:30 p. m. the class day exercises were begun in the auditorium. Dr. T. H. Taliaferro, dean of the University, acted as chairman. After a few remarks by Vice President Byrd, the awards were made by Dr. Pearson. Williams received the citizenship prize offered by Mr. Byrd, a member of the class of 1908, and Miss Bixler received the prize offered by Mrs. Albert F. Woods, wife of the former president of the university.

The silver medal, the highest athletic award, was given Albert W. Woods, of Missouri. Woods, All-State football back, won over other contenders, it was stated, because of his excellent scholastic record.

The Charles L. Linhardt ring for the Maryland man outstanding in athletics went to Gordon S. Pugh, of Baltimore. Pugh, for two years, was an All-American selection as lacrosse center.

Other leading awards made yesterday included the Women's Senior Honor Society cup for highest scholastic average. This went to R. Selena Reynolds, North East, Md.

The James Douglas Goddard Memorial medal to the Prince Georges County student for excellence in scholarship and moral character was awarded John Thomas Dressel, Mount Rainier, Md.

Thomas Stout Reid, Trenton, N. J., was awarded the Sigma Phi Sigma medal, offered by the Delta Chapter to the freshman making the highest averages during the first semester.

The Alpha Upsilon Chi Sorority medal, offered to the sophomore girl making the highest average during the first semester, went to Elsie Mae Dunn, of Washington.

Edward Sewell Barber, also of Washington, received the Dinah Berman memorial medal, offered the sophomore who attains the highest average in his class in the College of Engineering.

Letters also were presented to the athletes who won them in the spring sports. This was followed by the presentation of the senior class play.

Raid Bares Gambling.

New York, June 2 (A.P.).—A penthouse described as a palace of chance was raided by the gambling squad today. The detectives said blue chips cost as high as $1,000 there.

HITTING POLICEMAN NETS JAIL SENTENCE

Penalties Also Imposed for Liquor Charges in Court at Marlboro.

As penalty for striking a policeman, Arcade Walters, exercise man at the Bowie Race Track, yesterday was sentenced to 12 months in jail by the Marlboro Police Court.

Walters, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was accused of assault and battery on Edward J. Healey, special policeman at the track, who was attempting to arrest Walters on a minor charge.

Edgar Allen, of Oxon Hill, Md., was fined $150 and costs by Judge J. Chew Sheriff after pleading guilty to illegal possession of 35 gallons of whiskey. Allen was arrested near Oxon Hill, May 27, by A. W. Hepburn, Prince Georges County policeman.

Malcolm Pyles, Queen Anne, Md., was fined $50 and costs for possession of six gallons of liquor. William B. Hutchinson, Dupont Heights, Md., was fined $75 and costs for possession of 17 half-pints of whiskey. Both were arrested by Sergt. Hepburn.

Summer Schools to Open In Alexandria June 19

Sessions of the summer school of the Alexandria public schools will open June 19 and close August 11, registration of pupils being held June 16 and 17, according to an announcement made yesterday.

The school board has named a fee of $5 for the session for local pupils and $10 for nonresidents. Irving Lindsey will be the acting principal, and the teachers will be R. E. Knight, jr., A. S. Millican, Miss Kroes Ficklin, Miss Irolere Lucas, Miss Agnes Reynolds, Mrs. Mary B. Appleton and Mrs. Leah F. Dolph.

ALEXANDRIA TO CUT SCHOOL BOOK COST

A plan to reduce the cost of school books to the pupils of the Alexandria public schools has been adopted by the school board, to become effective with the session of 1933-34.

The plan provides that at the close of the present term all pupils who so desire may turn in their books to their respective teachers, and at the beginning of the next term, upon payment of a fee of $1.50 in the graded schools and $2 in the high schools, they will be supplied, free of other charge, with all text books necessary for the term. Those failing to turn in their books, however, will be required to furnish books at their own expense. The details of crediting, inspecting, repairing, warehousing and distributing books will be directly under the supervision of the superintendent of schools. Any books carried by a pupil in whose home a contagious disease exists will be immediately destroyed and replaced by others.

The present cost of books to the pupils averages $6 a semester, or $12 a year, and in the past year the board furnished books to indigent pupils at a public cost of approximately $2,000.

THE FEDERAL DIARY

By GEORGE D. RILEY

THE circus has left Washington for its long journey during the summer months, going as far West as California. You will remember the elephant acts. Our circus friends in the Bureau of Internal Revenue say the elephant never forgets. An incident occurred in Indiana when a boy fed one of the elephants chewing tobacco. The show played the same city the following season and the boy was attacked by one of the elephants. An investigation followed, and the boy admitted that he had given the elephant a piece of tobacco a year before. In circus parlance the elephants are called bulls; they are very cautious and will not cross a bridge or go through a tunnel until the lead elephant has made up his mind.

At night the attendant must carry a lantern for the lead elephant, then the balance will follow with tail and trunk interlocked. You probably have noticed the large torches burning at various corners on the last night of an engagement. They are signals for the drivers and attendants of animals, who follow these lights that direct the way to the circus trains. Elephants are very powerful.

On a rainy day one of the wagons containing seats sank to the hubs in the marshy ground. Twenty horses were unable to move the vehicle. One of the largest elephants placed his head against the rear of the wagon, and with the assistance of the horse power, the wagon rolled on.

WE NOTE Leslie C. McNemar becomes associate editor, District Federation of Federal Employes. Federal News carries announcement. . . . Charles Baldwin, automotive division, Commerce, now rides a horse. He gave up golf. 'Stoo expensive. He owns the horse? No. And then he observes a horse is more reasonable than a wife. . . . Tommy Corley, Marine Corps statistician, busy with the "Marchant" figuring averages and percentages. . . . To Ken Hyatt (), post laureate, Marine Corps, sympathies, Ken is stumped with the President's name. And aren't we all? . . . What department library is it that has acquired a copy of "Our Wonderland of Bureaucracy?" . . . . The Rev. Luther Wesley Smith, pastor, First Baptist Church, Columbia, Mo., delegate to Baptist convention here, guest of his brother, Russell B. Smith (), training division, Internal Revenue. Mr. Smith is generally recognized in the Middle West as one of the ablest young preachers, who has achieved marked success in dealing with college and high school age youth and in meeting their problems. And he enrolled 900 church members since being in Columbia. . . . This heat reminds us Monument Pool will be closed the hottest days. . . . In Commerce they're still working overtime. The record in Guard Capt. Breslin's office shows a hundred overtiming, not an hour or two, but five and six hours. The last to leave the other morning signed off at 1:30. . . . And they consider a weaving division in Commerce under the new order to take care of those who weave in and out of line in the cafeteria. That's one way to get ahead. . . . Nominations open for Federal employe willing to fill that employes' grievance job Representative Sirovich favors. One of our friends says "Barkis is willing." . . . That's right, W. E. Chaffiin (*), translation section, Commerce, tennis is fine for those cooped up in stuffy four walls by the hour. . . . Third episode of "Riches to Rags" in Sunday's Diary. Oh, yes; The Federal Diary appears Sundays, too. . . . We rise to a point of order and express the sincere hope that deep consideration be given to the men and women of science in "Uncle's" service. These people's work is not of the present, nor the past, nor the future. Rather of all time. Upon their labors rests the foundation of much human advancement. We hope the abolishers and the economizers can grasp the fact that a scientific man is not to be confused with economists or sociologists or others who view life from the mere material point. A scientist's work generally has been largely a labor of love. He has to prove his case before other scientific minds. His work must speak for itself. He builds his house stone by stone and it endures. Remember, Mr. Econ O. Miser, when you strike at scientific work in the Government, you're hitting at civilization's vitals, or does that mean much to you?

The Federal News today will say, in part: "The Senate joined the House of Representatives this week in acting to make the Wagner-Peyser bill a political grab bag. This bill provides for the setting up of a Nation-wide system of employment offices. It is designed to establish a new employment service which, unlike its thoroughly discredited predecessor, would not be a political plum tree. • • • There remains but the hope that the Secretary of Labor, with greater vision than members of the House and Senate, with a keener understanding of the vital principles involved, will fill positions under the act which she is to administer from the Civil Service lists. It is inconceivable that the Secretary of Labor will stand by idly in such a case when it is within her power at least partially to right a great wrong."

DEAR GEN. McCARL:

Here is a Government employe who takes his travel economy regulations seriously. A Government agricultural specialist recently was called into Washington from his Middle Western station for a conference. He inquired of the railroad ticket agent what was the cheapest round trip ticket available. The agent said that the lowest rate was the Baptist convention and he would have to get a certificate from a minister of that denomination to secure this round trip ticket. The Government man went to a minister, who told him that only members of that denomination were allowed the round trip fare certificates. Thereupon the Government man joined that church, was baptized and secured the round trip ticket.

FIFTY-FOUR years a Federal employe! This enviable record honors Charles H. Keller (*), gardener, Agricultural greenhouses, who has answered the call of retirement with a smiling face. By this lengthy service record he can, if such an organization materializes, qualify as a charter member of the Half Century Club of Federal Workers. "Life amid growing flowers," he said, "has rich compensations." "To see the bud, the expectant flower, and then espy the bloom, with all its beauty and rich perfume, furnishes a distinct reward for toil not paralleled by other lines of endeavor."

Keller entered the employ of Uncle Sam April 3, 1879, at a time when Government greenhouses were in their infancy and when floral culture was not as popular as it is today. His initial assignment was with the office of Public Buildings and Grounds and such employment continued for approximately 25 years.

Some unique distractions followed in the wake of his long experience as a gardener. In the early eighties, and thereafter, he acted as table decorator for many of the State affairs and dinners at the White House, under the supervision of Edward M. Byrnes, at that time foreman of the buildings and grounds plant houses and later long-time superintendent of the Agricultural greenhouses. Keller served in such manner in the administration of President Hayes, and so continued through the second term of President Theodore Roosevelt. Special pride rests in his arranging the table, floral display and other incidental decorations for the wedding of President Cleveland.

WHEN he left the office of Public Buildings and Grounds, Keller transferred to a position in the Department of Agriculture. In this department he served for 30 years, the greater part of which time being as head gardener. His duties comprised the broad field of plant care. As employment choices, he had either culture of roses or carnations, but selected the latter as a specialty. When leaving the service he was in charge of the departmental carnation house.

While in Federal employ he originated many novel floral designs and table set-ups and these were used effectively at various official functions given by the different Secretaries of Agriculture, he having been in the department during the terms of seven Cabinet officers.

Mr. Keller plans, as a future occupation, to oversee his flower garden, which is quite extensive, and this will demand the major part of his attention.

Patriotism and loyalty command us today, whether or not our debts we can pay, cut a little here, or a little there. Government workers will take it and not care.

Now J. P. Morgan led his gallant crew, out of the valley of debts, his four hundred flew, but the poor little guy with his cuts here and there, cashed in with his money, for he was "just square."

He paid his income tax with ne'er a squeal, while he took his cut, he is just a fifth wheel, still looking for the time when the new deal can take time and look for the FORGOTTEN MAN.—GOVERNMENT WORKER.

FEDERATION PLEADS FOR ASSESSING CUT; RICHARDS AROUSED

District Heads Told Tax Rate Slash Would Not Be Better Remedy.

The District Commissioners listened attentively yesterday to the demand of the Federation of Citizens Associations that the expected reduction in realty taxes take the form of a 20 per cent slash in all assessments instead of a 20-cent cut in the rate, but they gave little encouragement to the delegation's hope of altering the policy of the tax assessor.

No action will be taken until the congressional conferees reach an agreement on the 1934 District appropriations as Auditor Daniel J. Donovan is unable to make reliable estimates of the District's future financial condition until he knows how great a surplus will be created by the economy reduction made by the Budget Bureau and Congress in the municipal budget. The auditor holds, moreover, that a cut in the tax rate is preferable to an assessment slash.

Tax Assessor Incensed.

The hearing before the Commissioners yesterday assumed an unexpected dramatic aspect when Tax Assessor William P. Richards became incensed at some of the charges made by the federation's representatives and defended his policy of assessing realty values—a policy, incidentally, which elicted praise in the era of prosperity.

The gist of the whole controversy is whether the anticipated reduction in realty taxes is to be made in the present $1.70 rate or in the assessment scale. Actually, a 20 per cent cut in all realty assessments would be somewhat greater than a 20-cent reduction in the rate. This, however, is not the principal reason why the federation favors the horizontal assessment cut.

As explained by the delegation, which included James G. Yaden, president; George E. Sullivan, chairman of the law and legislation committee; L. A. Carruthers, chairman of the fiscal relations committee; Edwin S. Hege and Harry N. Stull, the federation fears an undisguised tax rate reduction would lead Congress to reduce the Federal contribution even more than in recent years on the ground that the District residents enjoy a comparatively low tax rate.

Richards Explains System.

The federation also pointed to the fact that though realty values have shrunk since 1929 the tax assessor has made no general slash in assessments on dwellings.

Mr. Richards, while insisting that he is required to obey the law and assess property 100 per cent of its value, quoted figures to support his argument that his assessments on homes in the District have ranged between 60 and 80 per cent of actual market prices. In the case of business property, the assessments have been much nearer the market values, he said.

Percentages of assessments as compared with sales were quoted by the tax assessor as follows for various residential areas: Petworth, 63 per cent; Takoma, 75; Brookland, 70; northeast and southeast sections, 73; southwest, 78; Georgetown, 73; Wesley Heights, 66.

Tax Strikes Mentioned.

In contrast, he said, assessments on property at Fourteenth and R streets have amounted to 100 per cent of sales prices, while in downtown Washington assessments have averaged 98 per cent and in Columbia Heights, 87 per cent of market prices.

At one time during the hearing Mr. Stull called the Commissioners' attention to tax strikes in Chicago and other cities without, however, making any local application except, perhaps, by implication.

As an indication of the slump in realty values in the District, Mr. Sullivan said that mortgage holders since 1929 have been continually calling upon home buyers to curtail the amounts of their loans. He charged that District home owners are paying more for their investments than residents of any other city in the United States.

Mr. Carruthers predicted that Congress would certainly reduce its contribution to the District budget if the tax rate rather than the assessment scale is cut.

REPORTER IS FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL HERE

Sleeping Powder Lay Near Edward Taber's Body; Was Former Pastor.

The Rev. Edward Taber, 56-year-old former clergyman and Washington newspaperman, was found dead late yesterday in his room at the Burlington Hotel. Although police reported they found a quantity of strong sleeping power near his bed, Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald had not determined the cause of death late last night.

Officials of the hotel said he registered on May 31 and had not been seen for several days. A maid suspicious when a "Do not disturb" sign remained on the outside of his door, notified D. M. Beach, a clerk. He forced entrance to the room. A physician, who pronounced him dead, said he apparently succumbed several days ago.

A letter addressed to his mother, Mrs. Ann Hummel, of Tilden Gardens, said he was "going to take a short rest and would probably feel better."

The Rev. Mr. Taber, a native of Washington, was a graduate of Central High School and Georgetown University. He studied for the ministry and was ordained in 1924. He was at one time pastor of the Hampden Baptist Church in Baltimore.

Becoming interested in newspaper work, Mr. Taber gave up the ministry and went to work for the Washington Daily News. He later worked for the Washington Herald, where he handled church news. He was one of the first radio news broadcasters. He left the Herald about two months ago and since then had been unemployed.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Ihlder to Make Study Of European Housing

John Ihlder, chairman of the housing committee of the Washington Council of Social Agencies, will tour European cities with a party of American city officials this summer to study European civic problems. The Oberlaender Trust, of Philadelphia, is sponsoring the tour.

The method of dealing with decadent city areas in Germany will be studied by Mr. Ihlder, who has been investigating alley housing in this city. The group will leave about June 15, and will confine most of their observations to German cities.

New Advertising Club Officers Discuss Plans

An informal discussion of trade development and civic welfare was held yesterday by the newly elected officers of the Advertising Club of Washington at the Raleigh Hotel. President Walter D. Barkdull presided.

Temporary plans were outlined for the year's work. They will be announced later, it was said.

Pickpocket

May Be Operating Within Guarded Portals of U. S. Treasury.

Imagine a pickpocket operating within the guarded precincts of the United States Treasury Building. But there must be one.

Frederick D. Madison, of Royal Oaks, Mich., reported to police that he had a purse in his left hip pocket containing $221 in cash when he entered the Treasury Building yesterday and after he had left the building he discovered that his purse was missing.

ROVER TO DISMISS THREE ASSISTANTS

Action Necessary to Keep in Justice Department's Slashed Budget.

In conformity with orders issued by the Department of Justice, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday notified three of his assistant attorneys that their services would be terminated at the end of the current month.

The three slated to go are Wilbur Baughman, aid to David A. Hart, who prosecutes liquor cases in Police Court; Frank Adams, colored, who handles gambling and United States cases in Police Court, and John B. Williams, who assists in the prosecution of liquor cases in District Supreme Court.

The dismissals were ordered to keep within the slashed salary budget of the Department of Justice. Each District attorney has been notified that when the current fiscal year ends this month, reductions of 25 per cent will have to be made in their forces.

The reduction will leave Mr. Rover with 21 assistants, who are required because of the large amount of Federal business transacted by his office.

Property Owners Warned of Racket

A warning against reappearance in Washington of the "front money" racket was issued yesterday by the Better Business Bureau. The firm allegedly engaging in the practice was declared by the bureau to be operating a "trick scheme."

Postal cards are sent out to persons owning real estate which is on the market. They are informed that the card sender has a possible outlet for their property and to communicate with the sender at once.

Persons who respond are told they must pay a $20 fee for listing and that the senders of the cards will then circularize real estate buyers. The bureau declared the firm sending such cards has no possible buyers.

MILK PRODUCER AID ASKED FOR INQUIRY

Special Counsel Seal Will First Classify Data on Prices Here.

The cooperation of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association was asked yesterday by Assistant Corporation Counsel Elwood H. Seal, who is special counsel to the subcommittee of the Senate District Committee, which will investigate local milk prices.

For several days Mr. Seal will devote most of his time in segregating and classifying the information he has received relative to prices for milk and other dairy products in the District.

He will then interview the witnesses he expects to call before the subcommittee. He will receive the aid of dairy experts of the Department of Agriculture as well as the assistance of investigations made by the Department of Justice.

Farmers and consumers as well as others who are interested in the pending investigation may reach Mr. Seal in his quarters in the Senate Office Building, room 21.

Barred Attorney's Case Is Dismissed

Inability of the Government to produce an important witness, yesterday resulted in Judge Gus A. Schuldt dismissing proceedings instituted here to take Abner Siegal disbarred attorney, to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to face a conspiracy charge.

Assistant United States Attorney Michael F. Keogh informed Judge Schuldt that he desired a postponement of the hearing because he had not been able to locate a missing witness. When Siegal informed Judge Schuldt that the case had been postponed numerous times, the latter insisted that the Government proceed.

Siegal, who acted as his own attorney, is serving an eighteen months' sentence here following conviction on a charge of attempting to bribe a guard at the District Jail to insert a record in the District Jail files showing the presence here of an Italian wanted in Wilkes-Barre for murder. The record was allegedly to have certified that when the murder was committed the Italian was incarcerated here and could not, therefore, have committed the slaying.

Federal Narcotic Agent Is Ousted Pending Trial

(Associated Press.)

W. O. McDonald, Federal narcotic agent, arrested in Nevada, Mo., Thursday on charges of possession of narcotics, was suspended yesterday by Will S. Wood, deputy commissioner of narcotics.

Wood took the action upon a telephonic report from the narcotic agent at Kansas City saying McDonald had morphine in his possession when arrested. He was suspended pending trial on the charges. U. S. Job Service Bill Passes Senate

(Associated Press.)

Creation of a joint Federal-State employment service to help idle men get back to work yesterday was brought within a few pen scratches of reality by Senate approval of House changes in the Wagner-Peyser bill.

The action by the Senate, except for the routine signatures by Speaker Rainey and Vice President Garner of the engrossed bill, was the last legislative step necessary to send the measure to President Roosevelt, whose approval is expected.

The bill appropriates $1,500,000 for the coming fiscal year and $4,000,000 annually through the fiscal year, 1936, with appropriations after that to be left up to the discretion of Congress and sets up in the Labor Department a United States Employment Service.

Roosevelt Battles Vandenberg Plan

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt sent word to congressional conferees yesterday he wanted the Vandenberg emergency bank deposit plan eliminated from the Glass bank reform bill, but the conferees reached no agreement on the measure.

The Vandenberg amendment would provide a Government guarantee for all bank deposits for the year intervening before the permanent deposit insurance clause of the Glass bill went into effect.

Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, said the conferees were in disagreement only on two or three points.

SOLE JUROR AVERTS BARRETT CONVICTION ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Third Trial for Detective Looms When Deadlock Is Found Hopeless.

Enmeshed in a "deadlock" that was characterized as "hopeless," the jury in the trial of Detective Sergt. Robert J. Barrett, yesterday was discharged by Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue in District Supreme Court after almost 24 hours of deliberating.

Members of the jury declared, following the discharge, that they stood 11 to 1 for conviction. The twelfth member of the panel refused to recede from his belief that Barrett was not guilty, and the jurors informed Justice O'Donoghue that there was no hope for an agreement.

Barrett has faced two juries on the indictment that charges him with simple assault upon George M. Baber, who at that time was being investigated in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, cashier of the Garden-T-Shoppe in Columbia road northwest.

The first jury found him guilty, but the verdict was reversed by the District Court of Appeals because of errors in the limiting of testimony. The Government, through Assistant United States Attorney Julian Richards, contended that Barrett had attacked Baber when the latter entered his apartment, where the officer was waiting for him.

Barret, now on a suspended status with the Police Department, is scheduled to be tried for the third time next month, unless United States Attorney Leo A. Rover decides to drop the indictment, which charges only a misdemeanor. Barrett's attorneys were Harry T. Whelan and W. Gwinn Gardiner.

Bulk of New Taxes Paid by Motorists

More than 70 per cent of the Federal Government's revenue from the series of excise taxes levied under the revenue act of 1932 is being paid by motorists, as such, the District division of the American Automobile Association, announced yesterday.

Of the $178,000,000 collected from the 19 excise taxes, more than $125,000,000 was from the levies imposed on gasoline, lubrication oils, tires, tubes, motor vehicles and parts and accessories.

When these taxes are reconsidered, it was said, the A. A. A. will make a vigorous effort to have the special motor excise taxes eliminated.

$1,854,000 Is Lent Virginia by R. F. C.

Loans totaling $1,854,000 for self-liquidating construction have been or will be made to Virginia by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, while Maryland has or will receive $60,000, it was announced yesterday.

The Virginia loans will provide, directly or indirectly, for a month's employment for 72,000 men, it is estimated. Maryland's share in the fund will put about 1,200 men to work for a month, in the actual construction and indirect work created by it. These figures are on the basis of a 30-hour week.

The total amount loaned for self-liquidating construction is $201,000,000 to 35 States and Territories. Employment resulting from these loans will put 405,000 men to work for six months, it is estimated.

Farley Is Liberal On Lottery Laws

(Associated Press.)

Liberal interpretation of the lottery laws will be applied by the Postoffice Department to publication of news stories and pictures relating to the winners of sweepstakes and lotteries in foreign countries, but the newspapers themselves must accept responsibility of keeping within the law.

This ruling was laid down yesterday by Postmaster General Farley after publication of reports the department would let down the bars against use of stories dealing with lotteries. He called attention to the laws which he said the department had no intention of nullifying.

Urges Change in Recovery Measure to Insure Aid for Roads and Works.

The Senate Finance Committee yesterday was asked to accord the District the same treatment allotted the States in dispensation of highway and public works aid under the national recovery bill, in a letter sent Chairman Pat Harrison yesterday by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, former chairman of the Senate District Committee.

At the same time the Washington Board of Trade, in individual letters to members of the House Ways and Means Committee, forwarded excerpts from testimony delivered on the subject at Senate Finance Committee hearings.

After detailing changes necessary in the recovery bill if the District is not to be discriminated against, Senator Capper said in his letter:

"It may be you already have this in mind, but I wanted to make sure that the desired amendments were brought to your attention."

Meanwhile, Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, chairman of the Senate District Committee, following an executive meeting of the committee yesterday, expressed hope that the District would get parity with the States.

The death of Robert Edward Daniels, 12-year-old member of the school boy patrol, who was fatally injured last April 5 when struck by a truck, was the basis for a $10,000 suit filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by his father, Harvey P. Daniels, of 311 N street southwest.

Through Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer, Mr. Daniels alleged that his son was struck by a truck of the West Bros. Brick Co., at Four-and-a-half and M streets southwest, while he was helping some smaller children cross the street during school recess.

BANK STOCK DRIVES SHOWING PROGRESS TOWARD REOPENING

Response Declared Good to Subscription Campaigns for Institutions.

Another astonishingly good response to Franklin National Bank's effort to reopen as an independent institution under its present title was reported yesterday. This institution, which secured $20,000 worth of stockholders' and depositors' agreements to the plan on Thursday, gained $28,000 more yesterday. This makes the total worth of agreements received $2,040,000 of the necessary amount of $2,100,000.

While Capt. Chester Wells, chairman, general subscription committee for the proposed "Hamilton National Bank of Washington," was pleased with returns reported at "well over $750,000" subscribed to the new $1,250,000 worth of stock required to organize the bank, he reminded depositors and stockholders who have not yet subscribed, that until the full amount is secured nothing can be done toward incorporation of the new bank and the release of deposits.

Immediate Opening Urged.

To relieve business conditions in the Northwest central area, business men of that section yesterday urged immediate opening of United States Savings Bank and the prospective "Hamilton National Bank of Washington," United States Savings Bank being one committed to the Hamilton Bank plan.

Officials of Washington Savings Bank, another institution in the Hamilton plan, reported $21,000 worth of its $40,000 quota of stock subscribed.
